With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

The old gas tank is to take it on the chin again, providing the state legislature goes through with a proposal to increase the gasoline tax to provide funds for flood rehabilitation. The state legislature might consider that the fellow who puts that gas in the tank also puts up for everything else under the sun. But gasoline always is the exposed goat.

My motivation has been interrupted so frequently since the storm that I also stop to recapitulate as to whether I have been any place. I am asked to listen to reports coming in to Santa Ana residents from outlying points, which gave the wildest Munchausen flights of imagination. One citizen received a letter from a Kansas relative in which she said she had just listened to reports of the most thrilling rescues in Santa Ana, which was said to be under three feet of water, and another from Utah which reported the city's business district completely inundated. Which forces us to the conclusion that while "it may happen here, it didn't."

Hitler Enters Austria As Nazi Forces Take Complete Control

New Plebiscite Is Promised By German Dictator

BERLIN. (AP)—Fuehrer Hitler left Munich by automobile today for a triumphant return to Austria, the land of his birth, after proclaiming that "soldiers of the German defense force were marching over all the frontiers of German Austria" to carry on its Nazification. Hitler declared a "real plebiscite" would be held in Austria "within the shortest time" to convince the world that the Austrian people really desire a national socialist government.

Hitting at European appeasement solutions that would involve colonial questions with the Austrian issue, he said:

PROCLAMATION

"If even solutions of colonial questions are today made dependent upon the right of self determination of lower races involved, then it is unbearable that six and a half millions members of an old and great cultured nation, due to the character of their regime shall enjoy even less rights than these."

Naming Field Marshal Goering as acting head of the German government during his absence, the Fuehrer delegated Propaganda Minister Goebbels to tell why Germany went to what was termed the rescue of a suffering Austria, held in the grip of a small minority lacking even the slightest legal status.

AID OF REICH

NAZIS TAKE CONTROL OF ALL AUSTRIA

Hitler Arrives in State After Armies

VIENNA. (AP)—Adolf Hilter returned in triumph to his native Austria today while the Austrian nation with mixed feelings began to learn what it means to be under Nazi control.

The Fuehrer of Germany made his entry into Linz at 4:13 p. m., a few hours behind his troops and airplanes.

All the villages of Upper Austria through which he passed turned out to a man as the Austrian-born leader of Nazidom moved toward Vienna.

100 WOMEN FIGHT 'ISMS

Nearly 100 Orange county women banded together yesterday in an organization to battle Communism, Nazism, Fascism, "or any other anti-American doctrine."

Mrs. Holmes Bishop, wife of the state president of the Associated Farmers of California, is president.

A secondary plank reads:

"To recognize the principle of collective bargaining, but oppose any requirement that makes employment depend on compulsory affiliation with any organization, and further that all so-called racketeering practices in labor movements which impose an unfair burden on the producer or consumer should be opposed."

Stuart Strathman, secretary of the Associated Farmers, spoke on the "Labor Racket." W. D. Ranney of the Citizen's Association, Felton Browning, Secretary-treasurer, Julia Magill, and Mrs. H. A. Gardner of Orange, also spoke.

A drive for memberships was started. The meeting was held at the Y. M. C. A.

Dentist Petitions For Probation

Pronouncement of judgment on fictitious check and wage theft charges against Dr. S. W. Wallace, Santa Ana dentist, were postponed until next Friday when he made oral application for probation before Justice of the Peace Kenneth E. Morrison today.

U. S. PROMISES HIGHWAY AID

Federal aid for flood-ravaged roads in Southern California was promised today, to the amount of $3,114,000.

The Federal bureau of roads reported to the state highway commission that amount remains in the emergency highway repair fund, and is immediately available, provided it is matched by California funds.

The special session of the legislature now in progress is expected to produce the necessary fund-raising legal machinery to take advantage of the federal money.

Thomas H. McDonald, director of the road bureau, said that $741,265 already has been used by California to repair damages to roads and bridges suffered in floods last December.

Naval Broadcasters Cited by Sheriff

Naval reserve radio operators who worked day and night during the flood on KGHX, Orange county police radio station, were cited for efficient service in a letter from Sheriff Logan Jackson to the commandant of the Eleventh naval district in San Diego today.

Those cited:

Lieut. C. W. Jones, Ed Heffner, Paul Moses, W. E. Whiteman, Myron J. Gemmil, Norol Evans, Ray Hancock, R. A. Wood, T. W. Jentges, W. P. Corbett, M. J. Fickas and C. M. Lindsley.

ROSS DENIES OBSCENITY

L. E. Ross, former shorthand reporter in superior court facing a federal charge involving the sending of obscene matter through the mails, denied today any connection with the case other than having received two letters addressed to another person.

Ross is under federal grand jury indictment and free on bond pending trial in Los Angeles Thursday. He was indicted Jan. 5, the but the proceeding came to light here only this week after Fresno officials arrested Otto B. Hertwig, Reedley harness maker, with whom prosecutors said Ross had corresponded.

Prosecutors said they would introduce evidence that Ross made obscene drawings and sent them

JAIL SCHOOL OF CRIME

Charles Speers, 32, Huntington Beach, and Joe Basabe, 26, Fullerton, returned today to the county jail—where, they admitted, they planned further crimes while serving another term.

Speers and Basabe were arrested less than a week after they had completed jail terms for burglary and extortion, respectively. Judge James L. Allen granted them three years' extension of their probation period yesterday, but imposed a year's jail term.

1000 Pea Pickers Found Destitute

SANTA BARBARA. (AP)—State emergency relief officials today investigated reports that a thousand families of pea pickers are destitute and starving in Northern Santa Barbara county.

The pickers are mostly from Los Angeles and San Francisco, spokesmen for them yesterday canvassed relief agencies, saying failure of the green pea crop had put them in dire straits.

$345,000 Asked Of U.S. for Sewer

Santa Ana city officials today were seeking immediate approval from Washington, D. C., on a $345,000 emergency project to repair and reconstruct section one of the joint outfall sewer from the vicinity of the flood-wrecked screening plant south to the pumping equipment at the ocean. Under the proposal sent to Washington, the WPA would furnish approximately $200,000 of the sum needed and the sewer district, $145,000, each city to pay on a pro-rate basis, depending upon the service the line renders in each case. Santa Ana's share will be 45 per cent or less than $72,000.

U. S. AID ASKED

The request to Washington asks for:

Seventeen thousand feet of concrete-jacketed pipe.

One hundred and twenty feet of cast-iron pipe beneath the state highway near the seashore.

New filter beds for the screening plant.

ENGINEERS AT WORK

Engineers from a half-dozen communities in the sewer district were working all day yesterday on drawing up plans and specification for the repair and reconstruction work. Santa Ana was authorized by the district at a meeting Wednesday evening to act as

FLOOD FUNDS APPEAL MADE

Red Cross Asks That Quota Be Filled

An appeal for immediate contributions to the swelling Red Cross fund, in an effort to close the campaign as soon as possible, was voiced today by Treasurer T. E. Stephenson.

A total of $8338 has been received at Red Cross headquarters to date.

Stephenson said he expected the total to rise perceptibly in the next several days, as business firms send in checks, and employes launch independent drives for contributions.

TOTAL TODAY—$8338

That was the relief fund picture presented by Treasurer T. E. Stephenson, as Santa Ana drove to collect its quota of $25,000 for rehabilitation and relief of flood victims. He asked that contributions be turned in as quickly as possible.

Work of feeding hundreds of refugees in the Fullerton area continues daily, officials pointed out.

Householders today were asked to contribute infants' clothing if possible, but no more adult clothing.

A warning was issued at the same time against house-to-house canvassers making sales in the name of the Red Cross. These are fraudulent appeals, officials said. Some charitable institutions are collecting clothing, food and household goods for the Red Cross, but no authorized agencies are selling wares in the Red Cross drive.

Cash contributions should be taken directly or mailed to Red Cross headquarters, banks or newspapers.

HILL BUILDING SALE MADE

Announcement of the purchase of the Hill building, corner of Fourth and Spurgeon streets, was made today by Wendell Finley of the Finley company.

Purchase price was reported "between $40,000 and $45,000."

Finley said extensive remodeling of the building is planned, but final details would not be worked out until tenants had been secured. All three floors of the structure probably will be altered.

The building has a frontage of 50 feet on Fourth street and 72 feet on Fifth.

E. F. Goodner, Santa Ana, acted as the agent in the deal.

TAYLOR SAFE FROM FLOODS

Appearance in Los Angeles of Bernard Taylor, Riverside man feared drowned in the flood last week, today cut another name from the list of persons still missing.

In a telephone conversation with his wife yesterday, Taylor recounted a terrifying experience in the Santa Ana Canyon, where he was caught when the road washed out. After spending two days in the canyon, the Riverside man managed to get through to Los Angeles.

Persons still believed drowned in the flood, but whose bodies have not been recovered:

Simeon Bathgate, San Juan Capistrano.

Charles Hughes, about 80, Santa Ana.

Lupe Yniguez, 6, and Delfina Yniguez, 1, Anaheim.

Others still unaccounted for are a Mrs. Riga's of Anaheim and a Hartley family living on North street in Anaheim.

Mayor Admits He Destroyed Papers

WASHINGTON. (AP) — Mayor Daniel J. Shields told the senate civil liberties committee today he had destroyed payroll records of special police during the Johnstown, Pa., steel strike to prevent any "reflection" being cast on the individual special officers.

Under questioning of Chairman La Follette (prog., Wis.) Shields estimated he had deputized "about 500" of the special officers.

Storm Unleashes Dangerous Flow From Mountains

Battered Orange county, shorn of its protecting levees and dykes, staggered under more than an inch of new rain today, and watched fearfully for a second downpour, expected hourly.

Warnings of possible repetition of last Thursday's disaster were broadcast over the county.

The Santa Ana river is rising steadily, but slowly. The low-level channel still was carrying the runoff this morning. Water level at the Jefferson street bridge raised five inches between 6 and 9:45 a. m.

Three and one-quarter inches of rain fell during the night at Big Bear lake, and the rain is continuing steadily today.

The Santa Ana river at Riverside had risen one foot this morning.

Sheriff Logan Jackson, after conversations with Rodney Bacon of the Edison company and observers at the company's plant in Colton, reported that the river is only three feet below Thursday's crest at that point, and that rain is falling steadily.

The flow at Prado, Jackson said, is 3000 second feet.

He warned all residents of low-lying areas to be "ready for any emergency," although he stressed the fact "there is no flood yet."

KVOE radio station will broadcast periodic reports on conditions here and in Riverside county.

At Mentone, above Redlands, the river has risen 500 second feet.

FORECASTERS PREDICT NEW DOWNPOUR

Added Precipitation For Next 24 Hours

Rainfall figures took new importance as a topic of worried conversation today as Orange county feared what a continued downpour might mean to the flood-ravaged lowlands.

More than an inch of rain fell last night and early today in most parts of the county, and it fell in about the same proportions throughout the mountainous "back-country"—along the headwaters of the Santa Ana river.

RAIN TONIGHT

The weather bureau, meanwhile, forecast rain for tonight and tomorrow with clearing skies charted for Sunday. Weather bureau officials indicated, however, that the storm throughout southern California would ease later today.

Heaviest rain reported in the county was in the Placentia, Yorba Linda and La Habra districts, where an inch and a quarter was recorded. San Bernardino reported slightly over an inch, while Riverside escaped with only a third of an inch.

MOUNTAIN DOWNPOUR

The downpour continued steadily from 10 p. m. until early this morning in the San Bernardino mountains, raising the level of the Santa Ana river by about a foot in that area. Lytle creek in San Bernardino county was up three and a half feet.

At the Mill Creek power house above Redlands, an inch of rain had fallen by 8 a. m. and it was still coming down in intermittent showers. Attendants there said

OIL COMPANY WINS BATTLE

The Associated Oil company was winner today in a 10-year-old controversy over royalty oil from the Huntington Beach field, as the state supreme court reversed a judgment of Superior Judge G. K. Scovel.

The supreme court directed that suits brought against the oil company by landowners be dismissed. Judge Scovel decided in 1934 that the plaintiffs in two actions were entitled to approximately $120,000 for discrepancies in Associated's accounting.

The oil company committed no fraud, Judge Scovel had ruled, but the sums were awarded for breach of contract. Plaintiffs in one of the suits, who had royalty agreements with the old Amalgamated Oil company, which sold out to Associated, were William J. and Hanna E. Pearce, George C. and Elizabeth B. Sanford, George L. and Etta L. Kellogg and Katherine B. Beare.

They were given judgment for $51,754.99.

Plaintiffs in the other suit, who had received judgment for $89,322.20, were George F. and Mary E. Fowler, M. W. and Frances Fowler, and Charles F. and Dora L. Hoppe.

One Rancher Gets Flooded With Milk When Waters Rise

To most Orange county residents the flood was nothing but water, mud and debris, but to one farmer in this locality it meant a deluge of milk.

Seven heifers and a steer, from parts unknown, were washed into his farm. John Bower, county livestock inspector, has been endeavoring to locate the owner of the animals since being notified by the farmer.

Mooney Wins First Step in Freedom Fight

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Tom Mooney won the first step of his newest fight for freedom from San Quentin prison early today when the California state assembly adopted a resolution intended to grant him a legislative pardon.

Approval of the unique measure climaxed two tempestuous days during which Mooney and Police Capt. Charles Goff of San Francisco appeared before the assembly to tell their divergent stories of Mooney's conviction for the 1916 Preparedness day bombing in San Francisco that killed 10 and injured 40 persons.

Adoption of the measure by a vote of 41 to 29 still left in doubt whether it would release Mooney from life imprisonment. The pardon still must be approved by the senate which turned down a somewhat similar measure last year.

DOUBT AUTHORITY

Grave doubts also have been expressed as to the legislature's authority to grant a pardon.

The fight before the legislature was protracted by efforts of Mooney supporters to boost their total from 39, which they first recorded Thursday, to the necessary majority of 41. (There are 80 seats in the assembly.)

The measure finally passed when Assemblyman Jefferson Peyser of San Francisco changed his vote rather than have backers of the pardon bill carry out their announced intention of having Assemblyman M. I. Cronin flown from a San Francisco hospital, where he is ill, to Sacramento, to cast his vote.

GOFF TESTIFIES

Captain Goff, who directed the gathering of evidence against Mooney and Warren K. Billings, also serving a life sentence for the bombing, appeared before the assembly at his request that he be given an opportunity to refute Mooney's charges he was framed.

"I didn't frame Mooney or any other man," the 60-year-old captain said. "I have a 42-year record on the police force. Take your choice between the statements of Mooney or me."

Goff admitted he believed in 1934 that Mooney should be pardoned but said that at the time he didn't know the methods used to obtain testimony for Mooney."

He said for the 21 years since the trial supporters of the former labor leader had "hounded" witnesses to recant.

MILK PRICE DROPS 3 CENTS

Prices to milk producers in Orange county dropped three cents today under amendments to milk marketing orders which become effective March 15.

The reduction will be from 72 to 69 cents per pound milk fat. It will be effective throughout Orange county, Santa Barbara, and San Bernardino - Riverside marketing areas.

The price of class four milk will be increased by the amendments to 12 cents over the price paid in Los Angeles for 92-score butter, so as to bring the price in more uniformity with prices paid for milk used in manufacturing purposes.

Hearings on the amendments were conducted recently by A. A. Brock under the division of markets, state department of agriculture, in Santa Ana, Riverside and Santa Barbara.

GERMAN TROOPS GREETED AT ITALIAN MOUNTAIN FRONTIER

Hitler, Il Duce Pact Clearer as Guards Pass Greetings at Historic Pass

ROME. (AP)—For the first time since the World war, German troops today stood at Italy's frontier, at the historic Brenner pass, and made friendly contact with Italian border guards.

Five truckloads of German infantry under a lieutenant colonel, part of the legions marching into Austria to make sure Reichsfuehrer Hitler's domination, arrived at the strategic Alpine portal.

In Rome it became apparent Hitler had given Premier Mussolini advance information that he was sending German troops into Austria.

Their meeting took place near the barrier which bears the Latin legend: "Frontier stone between Italy and Austria, consecrated by the treaty of St. Germaind, Sept. 10, 1919."

The German, speaking in Italian, said:

"I offer the salute of the German nation, and express its admiration to your chief."

The Italian commander thanked him and paid a tribute to Hitler.

The meeting showed how Europe had moved since 1934, when Mussolini rushed his divisions to the Brenner pass as a gesture to restrain Germany at the time of the Nazi putsch of July 25.

In ancient times the Brenner pass was the avenue for three Teuton invasions of the Italian peninsula.

Fe trains have the right-of-way, where the wig-wag wigs, and bells sound danger signals. Lady drives up to the tracks, wig-wag wigs. She looks in one direction and no train is in sight. But there are two directions to look when you are crossing railroad tracks. You got two eyes, and you better use both of 'em if you want to keep yourself altogether. The incident was observed by railroad men and the escape was so narrow that it sent a shudder over those who were witness to it. It is always a safe rule to follow that any time is train time on a railroad; that trains run in both directions, but you are only going one way if you get hit.

"Tad" Dunning isn't being influenced by the recession. At least not so far as Santa Ana is concerned. He's been here so long, watched the development of the county into such a substantial position, that recessions and depressions do not give him the jitters. He has just acquired one of the finest business corners in the city, buying the 150-foot frontage on First and Main. Dunning is a business man. Age discrimination in employment is becoming a vital issue. There are two courses open. Shoot 'em after they get over 40 or give 'em work. The ridiculous policy of dispossessing a man or woman of their employment because inevitable age creeps upon them is heartless and brutal and inhuman. As long as the old power house is able to send forth the current of intelligence, supported by a reasonable physical ally, it is the heighth of inanity to discard such a contribution to business. No era has ever arrived when time discriminated in favor of youth.

RANCHERS ASK CREEK REPAIRS

Immediate repairs to the channels of San Juan creek and Trabuco creek will be asked of county supervisors Tuesday by a delegation of ranchers from the San Juan Capistrano area.

Aaron Bucheim of Serra, is chairman of a committee named at San Juan Capistrano last night by 30 ranchers to present the request, according to C. J. Marks, farm bureau executive secretary, who attended the meeting.

Other members of the committee, which is to confer with Supervisor N. E. West before presenting its request are O. J. Gilbert, Clarence Brown, Judge R. Y. Williams and George J. Corbett.

Bike License Job Swamps Police

Swamped by 2675 Santa Ana bicyclists who have turned out for licenses, the police department prepared today to bring the distribution to an end late this month.

At the same time, Lieut. C. W. Wolford, in charge of licensing bicycles, announced his men would begin a city-wide checkup for unlicensed vehicles within the next week or so.

The department has about 500 more license tags on hand and Wolford indicated they should more than take care of late applications.

PREPARATIONS FOR J. C. FIESTA UNDER WAY

Twenty-two junior college committeemen, under the leadership of Chairman Jerry Roland, started work yesterday for the eleventh annual college fiesta, to be held in May.

Added feature this year will be an afternoon program for county high school students who will be guests of the college. An increased program of activities and other entertainments will be outlined for this year.

Faculty advisor is Dean Calvin C. Flint, who replaces Thomas H. Glenn, advisor for the past 10 years, and one of the fiesta's founders.

Committee heads are:

RAINS ADD TO FLOOD MENACE

Orange county late this afternoon.

Flood control engineers warned that another low pressure storm area is located about 250 miles off the coast, and is slowly moving inland.

It is expected to dump its water tonight.

Supervisors today appropriated $100,000 for emergency flood control work, as engineers and crews worked feverishly along the river banks, throwing up what protection they could against the encroaching waters.

Engineers are taking hourly gauge readings at the county line, in order to warn an already-ravaged county of any danger.

Eighteen miles of protecting levees were torn out by last week's $12,000,000 flood, however, and a sudden rampage of the river would inflict heavy damage, it was feared.

Prospects of new flood control aid in the upper counties was seen as supervisors dispatched telegrams to Senators Hiram Johnson and W. G. McAdoo, asking that they cooperate with Congressman Harry Sheppard in attempting to open an old WPA project calling for emergency work on the upper reaches of the river.

In the meantime, the Orange city council, meeting yesterday, agreed to cooperate with other communities in the district in repairing Section One of the pipeline, owing to the emergency existing there.

No official decision was released as to what stand Orange may take in the district after the emergency is cleared up.

Leo Sheridan of Anaheim said the plan for building a parallel section to be used by northern Orange county communities is not being considered at the present time.

Governor Finds Critics Are Scarce

DENVER. (AP)—Gov. Teller Ammons, attempting to obtain a few ideas on how to economize in state government, discovered instead something about psychology.

He sent letters to all state employes, asking them to offer suggestions for improving their departments and to criticize anything that appeared to be wrong.

The answers were few and the governor soon learned why. The employes were afraid their bosses would see the letters.

France Acts For British Pact As Czech Aid

PARIS. (AP) — France today seized Hitler's Austrian coup as a lever to force a joint Franco-British stand to prevent a similar fate for Czechoslovakia.

The French foreign office, fearful the Nazis might turn next to France's principal Central European ally, said efforts were under way to get Britain to commit herself to support the mutual assistance treaty linking France with Czechoslovakia.

Britain as present has no commitments in Central Europe and studiously has avoided such entanglements.

France's treaty with Czechoslovakia provides any invasion of her ally shall be submitted to the League of Nations council.

NAZIS TAKE OVER AUSTRIA

the Fuehrer's triumph entry into the capital of the state which has come under his power, expected tonight.

With Hitler were Heinrich Himmler, chief of all German police, Erhard Milch, German undersecretary for air, and other high German officials.

At Salzurg, Innsbruck, Kufstein and Linz, where German soldiers arrived early in the day, Austrian military joined the ranks of the invaders, greeting them cordially.

Hitler's close friend, 45-year-old, bespectacled sandy-haired Arthur Seysz-Inquart was the new chancellor, as well as war minister and minister of interior with both the nation's army and police under his control.

NAZIS IN CONTROL

Everywhere jubilant Nazis were taking over control of provincial and municipal governments.

The government of Chancellor Schuschnigg and his fight for Austrian independence and against Naziism were gone, yielding to German pressure.

A regiment of German troops passed through Braunau, Hitler's birthplace, stopped and paid touching, solemn obeisance at Hitler's house, their shrine.

Meetings started early in the provincial capitals to reorganize provincial governments in 100 per cent Nazi fashion, beginning with provincial governors and working down.

ARREST 1100

The outgoing Vienna police chief told the Associated Press 1100 persons were arrested during the night, mostly Schuschnigg sturmkorps and fatherland front officials who had sought restraint while the government was being changed over to Naziism.

Twenty-eight German bombers arrived at Aspert airdome near Vienna for the squadron flights over the city's outlying districts.

Nazi Leaders Josef Tavs announced that newspapers would be brought immediately into line with Nazi ideas. It was anticipated two prominent Vienna papers controlled by Jews would be banned.

LINDY STARTS FOR ENGLAND

NEW YORK. (AP)—Departing as secretly as they returned to their native land three months ago, Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh sailed early today to rejoin their two sons in England.

They drove in a private car to the pier of the North German Lloyd liner Bremen and boarded the ship unnoticed a few minutes before it sailed.

Even officers of the Bremen were kept unaware of the presence of the Lindberghs, line officials said, until the ship was at sea. Their names were not included on passenger lists.

Since the arrival of the couple Dec. 5, Col. Lindbergh has been engaged in negotiations for the Pan-American Airways, with which he is associated.

There was no indication whether the Lindberghs were returning as temporary or permanent residents to the English haven they sought in December, 1935, when the fate of their kidnaped first-born, Charles A., jr., was still fresh in their minds. Then they leased a place at Kent.

Their third son, now almost a year old, was born there.

FDR RAPS TVA IN DISSENTION

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt, saying the public interest demanded an end to internal dissension, put two courses before TVA's embattled directors today: united support of the agency's objectives or resignation.

In outspoken language, he told them they should consider problems and policies impersonally and objectively and, once a majority decision was reached, act harmoniously.

"Any of you who cannot do that owe it to the public of the United States not to remain on the board," he said.

HITLER ENTERS INTO AUSTRIA

the aid of the reich to the millions of Germans in Austria," Hitler proclaimed.

"I myself as Fuehrer and chancellor of the German people shall be happy again to be able to enter as a German and a free citizen this land which is my own land," Hitler's proclamation said.

"The world, however, shall convince itself that the German people in Austria experiences in these days, hours of deepest joy and emotion.

"The Austrian people see in the brethren who have hurried to their aid, saviours from dire distress.

"Long live the national socialist German Reich.

GUARANTEE ELECTION

"Motorized units, infantry division, and S. S. formations on the ground, as well as the German airforce in the blue skies," Hitler said, "called by the new nationalist government in Vienna—shall be the guarantor, that now at last, within the shortest time, the possibility will be given to the Austrian people by means of a real plebiscite to shape their own future destiny.

NEW RAINFALL FORECAST

Rain again closed the Santa Ana canyon highway which had been opened early this week to light passenger traffic, and new landslides also were reported to have blocked traffic in Cajon pass.

The Cajon pass slides interrupted train service between Los Angeles and the east via the Santa Fe railroad. The pass, used by both Santa Fe and Union Pacific, was blocked during last week's heavy rains and was opened only last Wednesday. Union Pacific had planned to send out its first train tonight, but these plans were delayed.

FLOOD DAMAGE TO CAR--CHECK!

That was the warning broadcast today by E. Raymond Cato, chief of the California Highway Patrol, as a safety measure. Cato placed emphasis on the possible deterioration of braking systems through water soaking.

Reports of the highway department showed that nearly every car subject to deep water conditions suffered damage to brakes, generator, starter, distributor, motor, differential and front wheel bearings. Contamination of these units with silt results in corrosion and in order to avoid excessive wear and possible breakdowns, the silt should be removed.

to Hertwig, who distributed them. Ross emphatically denied this accusation. The crime he is charged with, they said, is sending obscene matter through the mails, punishable by a maximum sentence of $5000 fine and five years in prison.

His statement follows:

"Inasmuch as there have been some misstatements in the paper regarding a difficulty in which I became involved, I have thought possibly a statement from me might clarify the matter.

"Some time ago two letters, containing some obscene language, were placed in my mail box, addressed to another person. Subsequently I was charged with having received obscene matter through the mail. I have never been charged with sending any prohibited matter through the mails myself, either writings, pictures or drawings, of any kind whatsoever, or with having made any drawings, and the two letters involved came into my possession inadvertently.

"The statement in The Journal of March 11 that I have been specifically charged with sending obscene and lascivious matter through the mails is erroneous, as is the statement that I was accused of being the center of a nation-wide ring distributing obscene pictures. I have never been charged with anything of that sort. Upon indictment I was not arrested, but furnished a nominal bond of $500 pending adjustment of the matter. "L. E. ROSS."

Hard Dough Asked By Wyoming Town

LANDER, Wyo. (AP)—Lander wants its summer vacationists to remember it as the "hard money town out west" when they return to their homes next fall.

So Lander bankers have shipped out 6100 paper dollars and requested that they be replaced with silver "cartwheels."

"Easterners, receiving silver dollars in change for paper bills, will long remember this place as the 'silver money town'," a leader of the movement said.

Aurora Borealis Fools Fire Wardens

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — Two North Carolina forest wardens set out in a hurry to extinguish the aurora borealis, or northern lights, thinking is was a forest fire.

Reclues Prepares For Long Life; Death Steps In

REDLANDS. (AP)—George Allen White, known to his neighbors as a recluse, was well prepared for many more years of life when he died here at the age of 66 after a brief illness.

Investigating his home after his death yesterday, the coroner found White had 100 suits of clothing, dozens of suits of underwear, adapted to various climatic conditions, 200 pounds of shoe leather, 300 pounds of sugar and 300 pounds of beans.

In a strong box the coroner found letters addressed for mailing to various persons, including the coroner himself. His writings disclosed White had built nine houses here, all alike in design. No money was disclosed.

In an obituary White had written, he said he was born in Farmingham Center, Mass., in 1871. He came to the southwest for his health in 1913.

HUGE U. S. FLEET PREPARES FOR WAR PRACTICE

SAN PEDRO. (AP)—One hundred and five fighting ships of the United States fleet are under sealed orders in Pacific coast bases tonight for the six weeks' war games which get under way at dawn Monday.

Secrecy shrouds the preparations. Radios of all ships are as silent as in time of war, in the initial phase—the test of communication nets on the Pacific coast.

Main units will sortie from the San Pedro and San Diego bases Monday morning.

Ten battleships: Nevada, Arizona, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Oklahoma, California, Idaho, Mississippi, New Mexico, Maryland. The dreadnaughts West Virginia and Colorado are in navy yards undergoing overhaul.

Four aircraft carriers: Lexington, Saratoga, Ranger and Langley. Twelve heavy cruisers, two light cruisers, one mobile target ship, seven submarines, forty-eight destroyers, thirteen auxiliaries and eight minecraft.

When maneuvers get into full swing there will be about 150 warships and 500 airplanes participating.

Four-H Hephzibah Seeking Attorney Who Knows Bible

H. H. H. H. Hephzibah, picturesque patriarch who wants the government turned over to him, won't talk till he gets an attorney.

When he gets an attorney—one who understands the Bible—he'll go into superior court to find out who's insane, Hephzibah or the jury. He wanted Jerry Geisler, Los Angeles criminal lawyer, but court attaches said Geisler probably wouldn't be available.

The bearded prophet was polite but silent yesterday afternoon at the county hospital, where psychiatrists and Presiding Superior Judge James L. Allen held court.

"I'm not trying to be rude," he explained, "but I have my constitutional rights just the same as anybody else.

"And anyway, you accuse me of being insane. I don't think you'd believe me if I did answer your questions."

Judge Allen will appoint an attorney Monday, he said; and His Holy, Highly Honored Hephzibah, the Prophet of the Most High God of Israel, Priest after the Order of Melchisidec, appointed and annointed King over all the earth, will have a superior court sanity trial.

Ask Report On Stray Animals

If the flood brought any stray animals to your property, the county Livestock Inspector or the Poundmaster want to know about them.

Dr. John Bower, county veterinarian, says these stray animals must be reported to his office or the county poundmaster at once so that an effort can be made to find their rightful owners. The county will hold all stray cows, horses, pigs, goats and sheep for a period of 30 days and then will offer them for sale at public auction.

Dr. Bower may be contacted at the courthouse annex, phone 3000 and H. D. Pickering, poundmaster, may be reached by phoning 0657-W.

ENGLAND FURIOUS AS PROTEST TO NAZIS IS DISREGARDED

Alliance With France to Protect Czechs Sought By Statesmen; Debate Monday

LONDON. (AP)—The British cabinet met today to face the cold fact that England's "paper protests" had been trampled under the marching feet of Hitler's army in Austria and might meet the same fate with respect to Czechoslovakia.

Ministers filed past a small, silent Downing street crowd for their extraordinary meeting with the realistic prime minister, Neville Chamberlain.

It was all too clear that Great Britain's words of protest came far too late to save Austria from Nazi domination and that the ministers must make up their minds now whether to forge a solid front with France and Czechoslovakia to prevent the same kind of a march to the east.

Furious government opposition demanded that Chamberlain answer the question of Czechoslovakia's future and answer it quickly.

SERVES NOTICE

Arthur Henderson, laborite, served notice he would ask the premier in commons Monday whether Great Britain would pledge armed aid to France in the event France is attacked while trying to save Czechoslovakia from German domination.

ENVOYS CONFER

After the cabinet session Clement R. Attlee, leader of the labor opposition, was called to the foreign office, where Lord Halifax gave him the government's information on the situation. It was believed he was consulted on important decisions pending.

Baron Georg Franckenstein, the Austrian minister, also was called into consultation with Lord Halifax.

This communique was issued after the cabinet meeting:

"The cabinet discussed the events in Austria and it was reported to it that a protest in the strongest terms had been made in Berlin.

"Previously the prime minister and foreign secretary had made similar representations to Herr Von Ribbentrop.

DISTURBING EFFECT

"It felt the action of the German government was bound to have the most disturbing effect on Anglo-German relations and on public confidence throughout Europe.

"His majesty's government are keeping in closest touch with the French government and giving continuous consideration to the situation.

"The ministers are remaining within reach of London over the week-end and it is understood the cabinet will in any case meet again Monday."

Commons probably will debate the crisis Monday. Attlee was understood to have demanded such debate and Lord Halifax to have undertaken to arrange it.

20,000 CATTLE ACCREDITED TO 'SOUND' LIST

The Federal Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington, D. C., today officially placed Orange county's 20,000 dairy, beef and family cattle on the accredited list.

This means that less than one-half of one per cent of the cattle here possess tuberculosis, according to Dr. John Bower, county veterinarian. The record is one prized by every county in the state which has been able to acquire the rating. It marks the end of many year's work on the part of the county veterinarian's office in clearing infected animals from healthy herds.

Dr. Bower now urges all persons purchasing cattle from other parts of the state to make sure before buying that the animals they intend to acquire are free from tuberculosis. He asks this that Orange county may remain in the standing it has obtained. Reports of purchases of cattle in or out of the county must be reported to his office.

The final report reaching here today was arrived at following a check up conducted last December and January by federal, state and county inspectors through the cooperation of Dr. Bower's office.

FOURTH SPY IS ARRESTED

NEW YORK. (AP)—A German-born airplane mechanic, the fourth person to be arrested in the metropolitan area within a month on espionage charges, was held today in default of $10,000 bail.

The mechanic, Otto Hermann Voss, 39, of Floral Park, was employed in the Seversky aircraft corporation's shops at Farmingdale, Long Island. He was charged with delivering and inducing others to deliver "to agents of a foreign power certain documents, writings, code books, signal books, photographs, instruments and information relating to the defense of the United States."

He was arrested under the World war espionage statute which the government invoked when it held two soldiers and a woman hairdresser here Feb. 26 on espionage charges.

Voss is a naturalized citizen and is married.

Federal agents who made the arrest and Assistant U. S. Attorney Lester C. Dunigan declined to give details in the case "at this time."

Here's Recipe For Egg Something

Carefully separate the whites and yolks of four eggs, and be sure to keep the yolks whole. Beat the whites, adding a little salt, then fill buttered baking dishes or custard cups two-thirds full of the beaten whites. Carefully drop a yolk on top of each cupful, sprinkle with salt and pepper, dot with butter and then bake until the yolks are set (about seven minutes). Sprinkle with grated cheese, chili sauce of catsup and serve in the baking dish.

Denver Interests Buy Gold Lands

WINNEMUCCA, Nev. (AP)—L. L. Kelling and associates of Denver, Colo., have purchased the Placeritos placer gold property in the Rosebud district, near Sulphur, 55 miles southwest of here, it was announced this week.

The property includes nearly 4000 acres. Kelling has been sampling it for several months, and is preparing to start large scale operations in the spring. His group acquired the ground from Ira Stanley.

BIGGERS MAY GET NEW POST

WASHINGTON. (AP) — Well-informed officials indicated today the administration may ask John D. Biggers, Ohio glass manufacturer, to become its official business conciliator, with the title of assistant secretary of commerce.

They said his name was most frequently mentioned among possible successors to Ernest G. Draper, nominated by President Roosevelt yesterday to the federal reserve board.

Draper has been an important though unpublicized participant in recent efforts of some administration officials to promote closer cooperation of business and government. His successor probably will occupy the same role.

Truck Driver Cleared in Crash

Roy Gordon of Long Beach, driver of a truck involved in a crash that killed Benny Trinca, 23, and Angelina Trinca, 20, San Diego honeymooners, Thursday afternoon, was completely exonerated of blame for the accident by a coroner's jury today.

The jury held the young couple's death was because Trinca was driving on the wrong side of the road when the impact occurred. Coroner Earl Abbey conducted the double inquest at Brown & Wagner mortuary this morning.

STUDENT LOAN DRIVE FIGURES

Proceeds from Phi Theta Kappa's annual student loan drive at Santa Ana Junior college totaled $149.91 today, according to Freda Wagner, secretary of the honor society.

College women's service clubs donated the major portion of the total with $100. Sisterhood of Spinsters gave $60, Piloteers $15, Moavs $10 and Las Meninas $15.

From the annual penny drive which was conducted two days $49.91 was raised. Although men's service clubs at jaysee didn't respond, it was expected that they would also assist in swelling the fund.

Landslide Injures Three in River Bed

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Three men were recovering today from injuries sustained in a landslide that killed Arthur Carlsoon, 35, of San Francisco.

Wooden girders slipping from a freight car started the slide, sending heavy rocks hurtling upon a group of Southern Pacific laborers who were working below in the Los Angeles river bottom.

Charles Buoy, 33, of 315 N. 35th street, San Diego, and George Brown, 51, and William Pollard, 54, both of Los Angeles, were the men injured.

STATE, FEDERAL MONEY ASKED FOR CANYON

Residents of District Meet Tonight

Laguna canyon residents will meet tonight to fight for more funds for flood control in the canyon and adjacent territory.

Petitions were being circulated today demanding county, state and federal aid to prevent repetition of the damage caused in two years of consecutive floods.

Action of the board of supervisors this week in setting aside between $500 and $1000 for construction of water lines to canyon homes in conjunction with the Laguna water district met with protest yesterday.

Col. M. B. Wellington, attorney for the district, appeared before the baord to protest on the ground the board resolution was improperly phrased, and placed too many restrictions on the fund.

Chairman Willard Smith and District Attorney W. F. Menton were appointed to confer with Wellington on a solution.

The Laguna canyon district, in its resolutions, claim that:

". . . Nearly two years ago, $50,000 was set aside at Santa Ana Flood Control office, earmarked by the supervisors for use in Laguna canyon. Despite protests and petitions filed last year, no steps have been taken and portions of the earmarked monies have been diverted to other county uses."

YOUR FRIENDS MAY WORRY?

The American Red Cross urges you to write your friends and relatives in other parts of the United States that you're alive and healthy. It is pointed out that if you have not communicated with them since the flood, they might think you are dead.

Daily, hundreds of letters are received by the Orange county Red Cross written by distressed persons in the east urgently asking about the health of friends and relatives here. Reports are current in other sections of the country that Orange county is completely under water, according to Red Cross officials, who add that if you haven't written these folks since the storm, the natural inference is that you, too, may have perished.

Suit to Quiet Title to Ranch

Suit to quiet title to a five-acre ranch in the Yorba Linda tract was brought in superior court today by E. R. Walker and Irene W. Shook. Defendants are A. V. Sullivan, A. G. Beaty, William E. Taylor and the California Claim service.

Harold McCabe, deputy district attorney, and Roland Thompson are attorneys for the plaintiffs.

TWO ARRESTED

Jose Montoyo, 38, Mexico City, and Adelino Valdez, 33, Mexicali, were arrested on illegal entry charges yesterday.

I Just Found Out

—By— MILLARD BROWNE

Most cosmopolitan spot in Santa Ana is a tiny plot of ground out on East First street, where natives of virtually every part of the world have been brought together under one roof.

The roof is made of laths and glass, though, and the natives are plants—all part of the Rinehart Begonia Gardens, which once concentrated exclusively on begonias, now grows more than a thousand different rare plants.

* * *

The place is cosmopolitan, all right. Proprietor Harry E. Rinehart made that clear when he stood in one small corner of the garden (total area of which is less than a third of an acre), pointed out and named plants from a dozen different countries, mostly tropical.

* * *

Rubbing leaves in this part of the garden are palms from the Caledonia and Phoenix islands, Hawaiian pineapple, South American and South China rubber, an Australian tree fern and other flowers and shrubs from Africa, Borneo, Ceylon and the Barbados islands.

South America furnishes U. S. importers with majority of imported plants, principally because of tropical species' abundance and accessibility there. Specializing nurserymen like Rinehart get rare plants from the importers, then reproduce, cross-breed and cultivate their own strains.

Rinehart and his wife started their unique industry as a hobby in 1928, turned it into a business when depression hit bottom five years ago. Now they ship all over the United States, are widely known among botanists for their collections of certain types of rare plants.

Strict specialists in begonias until a few years ago, the Rineharts now are "playing down" the begonia collection (which still includes around 400 different varieties) in favor of other plant families.

* * *

Begonias range from an inch in height to the size of a tree, are divided into four general groups—tuberous, semituberous, fibrous-rooted and red (fancy-leaved varieties). Features they all have in common: Two different blossoms, a female one containing a certain number of stamens, male one with a certain number of pistils (both flowers grow on the same plant); similar unequilateral leaves, and three-winged seed capsules.

* * *

One begonia doesn't bloom at all though. A barren hybrid, it's the fastest growing species in the whole group, doesn't waste any of its energy growing blossoms.

* * *

When nurserymen want new varieties of begonias, they simply cross-pollenate one male flower with a female flower of a different species, then plant the seeds. But when they want to reproduce the same flower, it's rarely done with seeds, since not one seed in 100 will produce a plant identical to the parent.

Nearly all reproduction, then, is by cuttings, though leaves from most any begonia plant will sprout if laid on damp, warm ground.

* * *

All begonias and ferns at the Rinehart gardens are grown in a mixture of leaf mold and well-rotted barnyard manure. Some other tropical plants are planted in plain sandy soil, while a few varieties (gardenias, rhododendrons and azaleas) are grown in pure peat, imported from Sweden, Germany or Norway.

* * *

Rarest flower in the local garden is called a begonia luxurians, comes from the tropics and has rarely been grown in this country. When it wilted under care of a hot hot-house, Rinehart put it out in a lath house to die, was astonished when the thing grew by leaps and bounds.

Rinehart once sold the lowly geranium for $1000. It was a new variety just shipped in from Germany. The Santa Ana nurseryman got the original cutting, got the fancy price from an eastern collector. He's furnished plants for botanical gardens all over the country, has had several customers sent to him by an unknown admirer who runs a florist shop in Skagway, Alaska.

* * *

Rare plants cultivated tenderly in this country may be weeds in their native land, Rinehart points out. Some plants kept in pots here grow as trees in the tropics, and one of the rarest ones in the local garden is a pest in Hawaii.

Most tropical flowers are comparatively easy to grow here, Rinehart believes. "You just have to study their native habitat, then come as close as you can to giving it the kind of soil, temperature and amount of water it needs," he explains.

* * *

For acclimating tropical flowers their are two electrically-heated beds at the begonia gardens. Cuttings from most foreign plants can be brought in, sprouted under controlled heat, then gradually cooled to normal hothouse temperature after they're partially grown.

OWNERS ASKED TO DISINFECT PRIVATE WELLS

Privately-owned water wells should be thoroughly disinfected, Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, warned today. He makes a few suggestions on how this can be done.

First, all mud and debris around the well must be removed. Secondly, pump out well until the water is clear and flush all pipelines extending from the shaft, making certain the water does not flow back into the cleaned well.

Thirdly, the contents of a 12-ounce can of chloride of lime dissolved in water should then be poured down the shaft. As a substitute for this a quart of any household disinfectant containing chlorine may be used, such as Chlorox, Sani-Clor, Purex, etc.

After allowing the well to stand for 24 hours with this solution, pump out until the odor and taste of chlorine disappears. As a double precaution, Dr. Sutherland urges a bacterial count of the water following the cleansing procedure.

Junior College Elects Files As Delegate to 'Frat' Meet

Clyde Files was elected official delegate to attend St. Joseph, Mo., national Phi Theta Kappa convention when the local Santa Ana Junior college chapter met in the campus women's lounge yesterday afternoon following initiation of six new members.

Jaysee students who were initiated into the society included Emaline Alford, Eileen Gibbs, Virginia Pritchard, Lois Oursler, Dick Phillips and Wilbur Marsters. Charles Williams, who was unable to attend, will automatically become a member of the honor organization composed of five per cent of the Associated Students.

Miss Lella B. Watson, advisor, Mrs. Robert Northcross, and Harold Moomaw, jaysee, instructors read the Greek significance of Phi, Theta and Kappa to the group of initiates. All those participating in the ceremony held in the college library wore black caps and gowns.

Completing the brief rites, Fred Dierker, president; Freda Wagner, secretary, and Hans Bergsetter, vice president, each read portions of the honor club's purpose which embodies "continuing improvement and intellectual growth."

A reception and business meeting was then held when members gathered in the lounge for refreshments. Roberta Berry presided at the punch bowl assisted by Ruth Budd and Miss Watson.

Tom Hudspeth, Bill Schlosser, Catherine Cooper, Barbara Knuth, Anne Wetherell, Clyde Files, Mary Henderson and Earnest Crozier Phillips, instructor, were also present.

BUS COLLISION FINDS ONE HURT

At first believed just a "fender denting," an auto-bus collision on South Main street Thursday night injured Bennie Barnabe, 28, Costa Mesa, it developed yesterday.

The bus, operated by M. F. Martin for the Santa Ana Bus Co., hit a car reportedly parked crooked at 1622 South Main street by G. W. Blaisdell, 38, Costa Mesa. Blaisdell yesterday told police Barnabe, a passenger in his car, had sustained a head laceration.

Another injury was added to the Santa Ana toll when Arnold Murillo, 1026 West Fifth street, sustained a cut on his left leg as a hit-and-run driver struck his bicycle. The accident occurred in the 100 block on East Fourth street at 8:20 p. m. yesterday.

NINE SPEEDERS ON COURT LIST

Nine speeders and eight parking violators paraded through City Judge J. G. Mitchell's court yesterday, paying a total of $66.

Speeders fined:

WHITE SHRINE HOLDS MEETING

White Shrine advanced officers at their meeting at Masonic temple last night when Mrs. Florence Wright was named worthy high priestess and Dr. James Workman, watchmen of shepherds.

Marian Wallace was named worthy noble prophetess, Inez Orton, worthy chaplain; Pearl Nicholson, worthy shepherdess, and Estella Workman, worthy guide.

Motorist Breaks Leg in Car Mishap

Sustaining a broken leg when his car went out of control and turned over several times on slippery Lincoln avenue west of Anaheim yesterday afternoon, August Howg, 40, Los Angeles, was recovering today in Anaheim sanitarium.

The accident occurred at 5:45 p. m. near the intersection of Grand avenue. Howg was alone.

DR. ATSCHULER TO CONDUCT WPA'S MUSIC

Dr. Modest Atschuler, internationally famous director, will conduct the Santa Ana Federal symphony on March 24.

Director Leon Eckles announced today that Dr. Atschuler had agreed to wield the baton for the Santa Ana concert. His initial rehearsal with the orchestra was held yesterday.

The Russian director has played in more than 400 cities in America since coming to this country in 1900. He was instrumental in introducing many outstanding Russian works to the American public, including those of Tschaikowsky, Rimsky-Korsakoff, Borodin, Moussorgsky and Ippolitov-Ivanoff.

In 1924 Dr. Atschuler came to California to conduct the Hollywood bowl concerts, and in 1927 he assumed the leadership of the Glendale Symphony orchestra.

Announcement of program for the March 24 concert, to be played in the Santa Ana High school auditorium, will be made at a later date, Eckles said.

SEASONAL UPTURN

BALTIMORE, Md.—Magistrate Elmer H. Miller suggested 15 days would be about the proper jail term for Robert Doyle, 40, arraigned for vagrancy.

Doyle disagreed. He asked for—and got—30 days.

The reason? Doyle is a gardener and, he explained, in 30 days spring will be here (he hopes) and he can find work.

TASTER

SEATTLE.—Vernon Fields, 30, blamed his occupation for reckless driving.

He told Police Judge Jacob Kalina his sensitive sense of taste had won him a job in a distillery, and "I guess I had too many tastes."

Judge Kalina fined him $50.

DOUBLE REPERCUSSION

CHICAGO.—It all came out in Judge Thomas A. Green's court when E. F. Chambless sought $100 damages for his coat from Charles Sanoff, who sells trinkets that make "the other fellow" laugh.

Chambless bought one of the gadgets. Directions said it "will shoot, whistle, scream, smoke and shoot again."

But something went wrong. The device went off with a bang, whistle, scream and smoke in Chambless' overcoat pocket.

The judge ruled that the joke was on Chambless and Sanoff did not have to pay.

Applause Greets WPA Music Bill

Prolonged applause greeted the appearance of the Federal music project chorus in the Huntington Beach High school auditorium yesterday. The chorus was directed by Dodley Page Harper, with Mrs. Mae Renfer as accompanist.

The program included Giannina Mia, from Friml's Firefly, Mrs. Helen Collins, soloist; "The Battle of Jericho," negro spiritual; "Swing Along," race song; the Harvey Gaul arrangement of "Daybreak," by Longfellow; "Dance the Cachuca," from the Gondoliers, and "Sympathy" from the Firefly.

Police Snare Six In Drunk Net

Police made five arrests for the price of one last night.

They halted Kenneth H. Leep, 26, 217 South Clementine street, Anaheim, on a drunk driving charge at First and Ross streets. Leep had four companions—Lloyd E. Gruber, William I. Lane, Jack Burch and Alfred T. Huss—and they all were booked at county jail on drunkenness counts.

Earlier in the evening, they arrested Louise Rainier, 28, 414½ West Fourth street, on a drunk driving charge. She posted $200 bond and was not booked.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. KOBB

The Feb. 12 issue of the Emancipator in a front page editorial says: "No matter how long we persist in dodging the truth, its effects will continue to be felt. Facts are stubborn things. We must now face the fact that science and invention has evolved machinery that enables one man to produce as much in a given time as 20 could have produced in the same time 25 years ago. These machines never enter a store, nor do they buy a single thing. They do, however, in this country alone, throw 12 million out of work, with little hope of anything but idleness. Of these idle people, many of them can never again be employed unless we scrap these machines, and go back to the age of the ox cart. Of course we can't do that, and no one would want to if we could. This leaves greater consumption of goods as the one and only solution of our unemployment problem, and it has simply got to be solved.

"It is quite evident that a greater consumption is impossible, on the incomes of those now employed, unless such incomes are increased tremendously. Pensions for the aged, and relief for the unemployed, fixed at bare subsistence rates, cannot help much in such circumstances. Higher standards of living are only possible with greatly increased volume of buying power, kept in circulation through the hands of the great masses of the people. How to do this has been the problem of every administration for many years. If we grant that every one of them has tried to solve it, we must also grant they have all failed. This being so, and the facts prove it beyond all doubt, it now seems to be up to the people themselves to save themselves and their country from complete bankruptcy and chaos."

"By adopting the General Welfare Act H. R. 4199, a much higher standard of living for all can be achieved. This bill not only provides for the enforced circulation of money as the purchasing power; but it also provides a simple, practical method of paying off the national debt, and placing the nation on a cash pay-as-we-go basis, with a balanced budget."

There is much more to the article, which was written by Justus Reynolds, but enough has been quoted to show that it is a pure unstinted endorsement of the Townsend plan bill now before the congress as the way out for the nation.

Mrs. Cora Smith, Garden Grove club president, writes that Monday evening, March 14, the club will have a pot-luck dinner beginning at 6:30 p. m. Bring your own table service and a covered dish. The American Legion hall is the meeting place. At 7:30 a Townsend meeting will be conducted with Ted E. Felt, Los Angeles, as the speaker. It will be remembered that once the state area manager for the 12th and 19th districts was none other than Ted E. Felt. There will be many of his old friends who will want to hear him.

Rev. E. M. Sutton writes that the La Habra club No. 1 will meet next Monday at 6:30 p. m. in the Masonic hall to enjoy a pot-luck dinner. La Habra club is doing things. At a recent meeting 30 new members were enrolled at one time, mostly business men and women, according to Rev. Sutton, who is coming to the front as a first class correspondent with this column. Thank you, Rev. Sutton.

Mrs. Ota A. Everett, Fullerton club No. 1 president, sends word that next Monday in the Ebell club a program will be offered, beginning at 7:30 p. m. Last Monday evening this club voted to send Dr. Townsend $20. She says the club plans on holding a penny social on March 21, and that W. R. Cogswell of San Bernardino will be the speaker. I guess Cogswell will have to be twins that night, as Rev. Sutton of La Habra club, writes he will be the speaker for them on the same date. Better draw straws, folks, and notify this column as to who wins.

The word comes that J. H. Walsh, district manager, is conducting an all day meeting in Santa Ana Townsend hall tomorrow. According to information coming to the writer the meeting will be conducted with the purpose of promoting the establishing of the Townsend party in the district. No particulars have been given this column.

GIRL SCOUT HEADS NAMED

Mrs. R. C. Harris and Mrs. E. T. McFadden were re-elected commissioner and deputy commissioner, respectively, of the Santa Ana Girl Scout council at a meeting held yesterday afternoon in the Little House on Riverine street.

Other officers and members of the group named were as follows: Mrs. John Henderson, treasurer; Mrs. Herbert Rankin, secretary, and the following council members: Mrs. Lee Smith, Mrs. Horace Scott, Mrs. A. W. Rutan, Miss Nora Reid, Mrs. George Ames, Mrs. Ridley Smith, Mrs. John Scripps, Mrs. Harry D. Edwards and Mrs. Rose Walker.

Miss Margaret Wolf, Santa Ana local director, presented a report during the session on the regional conference in Portland which she attended recently.

National Youth Funds Are Sought

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Aubrey Williams, director of the National Youth administration, told a senate labor sub-committee that 3,500,000 youths in this country were unable to attend high school because "parents could not afford" it. He testified during a committee hearing on the proposed American youth act.

Hundreds of young men and women, members of the American Youth congress, sponsors of the bill, crowded the hearing room.

The bill, introduced by Senator Lundeen (F.-L., Minn.), proposes use of $500,000,000 in federal funds for vocationad and educational training of persons 16 to 25 years.

Williams said this amount probably was too large.

ASKS PAROLE

Admitting he cashed a $21.56 worthless check at a local drug store Feb. 18, Edwin A. Leonard today awaited a probation hearing in superior court March 25. Leonard pleaded guilty before Judge James L. Allen yesterday and asked probation.

GOV. MERRIAM TO ADDRESS CHURCHMEN

With Gov. Frank Merriam as master of ceremonies, the Federated Church Brotherhoods of California will end their two-day convention in Fullerton tonight. More than 300 delegates attended the opening session yesterday in the Fullerton Methodist church.

Subject for tonight's banquet meeting will be "Peace." Speakers are Arthur Rugh, veteran of the Shanghai battle, and the Hon. T. K. Chang, Chinese Consul.

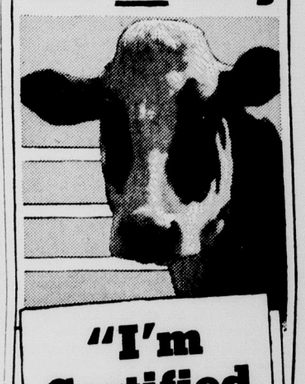

Speakers yesterday were George J. Ross, special agent of the federal bureau of investigation; Dr. D. W. Kurtz, of La Verne, and Mayor Harry G. Maxwell of Fullerton. Vice President C. C. Crawford presided, with the Rev. E. Dow Hoffman as toastmaster.

Tobacco Can Yields Thieves $120 Loot

George Conrad, South Franklin street, had taken elaborate pains to conceal his role of eight $10 bills and eight $5 bills, but yesterday he found it was all in vain.

Because someone found the roll in the tobacco can behind the picture over the door of his former room at 702 West Third street. His loss: $120.

An Aristocrat of the Excelsior Herd Tells Her Story

"I'm Certified that's the difference"

"MY JOB is to provide pure Certified Milk—not to tell about it. So many people do not understand the WHY of Certified Milk—that's the reason I am speaking in behalf of the blood-tested herd at the Excelsior Certified Ranch.

"From what I hear visitors and experts say, this is truly the last word in a dairy ranch. And why shouldn't it be! Everything in perfect order . . . scrubbing, washing continuously . . . constant inspection . . . milking stables scrupulously clean . . . all our food rations scientifically balanced.

"You can imagine, then, what it is like to live in such a place. Veterinarians keep their eyes on us constantly . . . examining, testing. They keep a record of our history which is rigidly checked. Even the men on the ranch undergo regular physical examinations, must wear clean white suits and observe strict rules to insure positive sanitation. "Just what goes on after the milk leaves the milking stables I'll leave for others to tell, but I will say this! Our herd is as fine a bunch of healthy cows as you'll find anywhere. Their standards are so high that it takes a mighty exceptional cow to break into this circle. And for the ranch itself, well—you are invited to visit it. Then you will understand why it is Certified by the County Medical Milk Commission."

Yours for better health,
Grace Bloom Cloveranch,
(at the Excelsior 17th St. Certified Ranch)

POLITICS SHOW LIFE AGAIN IN SAN CLEMENTE

Eight File for City Election Campaign

SAN CLEMENTE.—As the time limit for filing for the councilmanic positions to be filled at the April election drew to a close a rush of applicants took place and eight persons have signified their desire to serve as city council members during the next term.

The electorate is divided into three camps, those supporting Mayor Dan Mulherron, those following Mayor A. T. Smith and a middle-of-the-road party supported by David I. Stoddard and the Bank of America interests, which control a majority of the realty holdings in the city.

Those filing for the positions are William H. Stute, riding academy proprietor and former employe of the Capital company, Bank of America subsidiary; David I. Stoddard, present incumbent and head of the Capital company in San Clemente; L. M. Strang, building contractor, also associated with the Capital company as contractor in charge of their new buildings being erected in the city; Dan Mulherron, present mayor and until recently WPA head for Orange county; C. Fred Oathout, filling station owner; Leo E. Smith, building contractor; Oliver R. Robertson, filling station owner and former mayor and Robert Smith, jr., former park board employe.

Four of the five positions are to be filled at the coming election, Miss Lillian V. Coe being the only hold-over member of the present council. Of the four vacancies, three are for four years and one for two years, members whose terms expire are Dan Mulherron, David I. Stoddard, A. T. Smith and Henry Fate.

PRADO DAM PROJECT TOLD

GARDEN GROVE.—Had it been completed, Prado dam would have held all flood waters entering into this county last week, and if necessary two to three times that amount, Flood Control Engineer M. N. Thompson told members of the Garden Grove Lions club in discussing the past week's flood at this week's luncheon session.

Army engineers have drawn a new set of plans, placing the proposed dam nearer Prado in order that a better spillway may be erected, he added, and bedrock at any point in the canyon is adequate for its placement.

Water during the peak of last week's flood stood four feet over the road at Green River camp in the canyon, he said, this being six feet higher than during the flood period in 1916. Prior to any breaks last week the river was carrying 20,000 second feet of water and measured just above the Fifth street bridge the water was 10.7 feet deep. Plans, he added, are now being prepared to restore all breaks in the river dikes just as quickly as funds are available.

H. Clay Kellogg, who was in charge of the program and presented the speaker, showed pictures of flood conditions throughout the county. Guests were Kenneth Morrison, assistant district governor of Lions' clubs, Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools, and Dr. Donald Waters.

COOK, HURRELL TO SPEAK

LAGUNA BEACH. — George Hurrell and Ted Cook will tell about their photographic expedition into Mexico at the monthly meeting of the Laguna Beach Art association at the art gallery at 8:30 o'clock tonight. One hundred of their prints are now on exhibition in the lower gallery where they will hang until March 15.

Hurrell, whose photography appears in national magazines perhaps more than any Western photographer, spent several years in Laguna Beach before going to Hollywood where his success as a still photographer won him international recognition. Cook is widely read as a columnist and humorist, and he has rapidly made a name for himself in the photographic world.

Cook and Hurrell photographed in Mexico under auspices of the Mexican government and have been invited to return to make another series of pictures in the south of Mexico. Duplicates of their prints now on display at the gallery are being used by the Mexican government's department of communications.

SOUP KITCHEN PLANS TOLD

GARDEN GROVE. — Starting next week the soup kitchen sponsored by the Garden Grove grammar school Parent-Teacher association will serve soup and hot chocolate on Monday, Wednesday and Thursdays at 3 cents a cup and on the other two days of the week a solid, such as stew, spaghetti, beans or scalloped potatoes at 6 cents a dish, according to a decision reached at an executive board meeting of the association Thursday.

The kitchen, started as a means of providing hot food to school children is now meeting all expenses, it was learned, after receiving help in its initial organization by the various local clubs.

It was decided to have a 12:45 pot-luck luncheon at the board meeting of April 7 and Mrs. F. A. Monroe and Mrs. Wilbur Harper were appointed to plan the menu.

ORANGE.—Mrs. Alfred Leech was toastmaster at the Friday meeting of the second toastmasters' section of the Orange Woman's club. Guests were Mrs. W. T. Lysle and Dixie Lee Burley, the latter a house guest of Mrs. S. P. Harriss.

Speeches were made by Mrs. V. A. Wood on "History of the Hollywood Bowl," and Mrs. Arthur T. Hobson on "Life of Lily Pons."

It was decided to sponsor a tea room at the Woman's club flower show April 17 and Mrs. V. A. Wood, Mrs. L. A. Bortz and Mrs. S. P. Harriss were named on the committee in charge. The section will also give one of the prizes at the flower show.

Plans for a picnic scheduled for April 8, were cancelled. Luncheon hostesses were Mrs. L. F. Finley, Mrs. Marjorie McKee and Mrs. James Donegan.

Others present were Mesdames Perry Grout, A. D. Donovan, C. L. Benson, Rex Shannon, Arthur Sipherd, Henry Terry, A. B. Workman, George H. Peterson, Bertha Neale, Marah Adams and Miss Dannie Haeberle.

PORT REALTY BOARD ELECTS

NEWPORT-BALBOA. — Members of the Newport Harbor Realty Board yesterday elected Ray Parker a member of the board and appointed A. J. Twist a committee of one to discuss with officers of the Newport Harbor service club plans for a joint meeting when a speaker from the federal housing administration can be secured to discuss details of the amended housing measure.

Resolutions opposing the plans for a single tax under the guise of a revision of the sales tax and a measure throwing wide open floating of municipal bonds under a projected revenue bond act were also adopted unanimously.

Paul A. Palmer, president of the harbor realty board, presided. Harry H. Williamson, state director, was appointed a committee of one on membership.

Alamitos Church Service Planned

ALAMITOS. — Special services have been planned for the Alamitos Friends church for tomorrow at 2 p. m. when an oil painting of "The Ascension," painted and presented the church by B. Whitmer Smith will be dedicated. The picture will stand as a memorial for Mr. Smith's mother and sister.

The usual morning services at the church will be followed by a pot-luck dinner after which the dedicatory service will be conducted by the Rev. Paul P. Younger of Alhambra, a former pastor.

Queen Esthers Honor Leader

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Mrs. J. A. Bodman of Newport Beach, San Diego district Queen Esther secretary, will be guest of honor at a joint meeting of the Queen Esther circle and the Queen Esther Standard Bearers Monday night at 6:15 o'clock.

A covered dish dinner will be served and a musical program in addition to a talk by Mrs. Bodman will furnish the entertainment.

H. B. Girl Scouts Slate Benefit

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Members of the Girl Scouts will be hostesses at a card party in Memorial hall Monday night.

Games of auction, contract, 500 and pinochle will be played. The girls will contribute the money earned towards the camp benefit fund.

Assisting the scouts are Mrs. Nichols, Mrs. Clarence Prinslow and Mrs. Ross Bruce.

Beach Catholic Ceremony Set

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Archbishop John J. Cantwell will administer sacrament of confirmation tomorrow at the Sts. Simon and Jude Catholic church at 10 a. m. He also will preside at the mass and preach the sermon.

Sunday masses will be held at 7, 8, and 10 o'clock. The sacrament will be conferred upon 70 people.

ALONG ORANGE COUNTY'S WATER FRONT

Weather: Murky.
Sailing: Jerky.
Swimming: Burpy (from too many waves).
Fishing: Nyaaaah!

which, friends, is a composite picture of our waterfront for the week-end, if Friday night weather means anything.

D'ja see those stormy clouds last night? It looked as if a storm for sure. And, right in the midst of it, a fishing boat was taking on water and gas for a trip.

"We'll make a try at it, unless the wind blows us back into the harbor," the skipper said. His language wasn't quite like that—it was a "blankety-blank wind" and a "thus and thus and so harbor" but you can gather what he meant.

Those fishermen—but we may talk about 'em later, if time (and weather) permits.

Paul Palmer, reigning power on Lido Isle, says there's no croaker fishing from off'n his bridges for croaker, now or in spring-time, folks, so don't expect to try for that big spotfin this spring from that good spot on The Isle. It isn't against the law, but fishing has dropped off (just as sales have picked up) on the famed island.

* * *

Speaking of croaker (who was, anyway?) there were three skiffs anchored off the Balboa pavilion yesterday afternoon.

The occupants of those skiffs all were manipulating fishpoles.

Anybody, with any sense, knows there aren't any croaker around these parts this time of year. But still, those guys were afishin'.

Steve Smith, the man who has the tugboats, claimed they proably were sitting out there in boats just to argue about things. You know, a companion, a place to loaf and thee, or something? Some of the best political minds in the country, Steve claimed, are at work out on the bay right now, solving all the problems of the human race. But that's just his opinion!

Anyway, the skiffs — or what IS the pural of a skiff, anyway? Skeeves? Nevertheless, the tiny, hand-propelled craft are anchored out there every day, which must mean the presence of some sort of fish. Anybody interested?

* * *

Bob Boyd, that man who sells boats, when not otherwise occupied, broke down with lots of information yesterday afternoon.

Bob's bad time is right along about now, when everybody takes to his fireplace instead of his cruiser, fireplace instead of his adding a sloop to the family possessions.

However, things are moving at the South Coast Boat works. Mostly boat show.

That huge event, which takes place soon in L. A., is bringing much work to the South Coasters. Mostly in building new boats to enter, so folks can admire, and maybe buy.

These boats, probably to be seen for the first time on the coast, were designed by Phil Rhodes. Don't ask, people, who Phil is. He's designed almost everything in the boat line. You know, all of the best families have a Rhodes-designed craft in the basement, or somewhere.

Or that's what Bob says, anyway!

Leading the new speedsters is the "Falcon."

She's a racy Marconi-rigged sloop. Centerboard. And can be operated by man, boy, or infant, or water spaniel, if competent. Sixteen feet. Like the other two of the new classes, she's designed both for comfortable sailing and racing, and will seat three people. Four, if the beam of the passengers doesn't pass regulations.

Next comes "Eagle."

"Eagle" is a 19-footer. She's specially designed for senior and older junior-racing. Has centerboard and racy lines which would give pleasure even to the owner of a Pacific Coast class racer, which is sayin' sumpin!

* * *

"Albatross," last in the newer speedsters, is the final word in speed, class and comfort. Or else I've been misinformed. She's dry, which is something. She's an easy sailer, which is more. She's the very best, as far as either comfort-cruising or racing is concerned.

* * *

If Bob Boyd and the South Coast don't win some prizes with these new boats, something's wrong, and I'll never go to another boat show, so help me!

* * *

Someone reported a boat nearly buried in sand at Laguna yesterday. The craft was so badly battered that even the registration numbers were almost unreadable.

But the party phoning in gave a part of a number, and Tommy went to work on what he had.

Pretty soon, out of his hundreds of classification cards on file, he dug out one on a boat from Oceanside. Then he checked with Oceanside police. Sure enough, a boat there was missing.

So now T. M. Lawrence of that city knows where his boat is located. The craft, a 24-foot fishing boat, broke loose in last Wednesday's storm, apparently drifted clear up to Laguna before going aground.

Mr. Lawrence probably won't be much interested in "Betty June," because her motor's gone, and she is in pretty bad shape.

But Tommy's a good detective, anyway.

If you want to see a real honey of a boat, rush down to the South Coast Boat Works real quick like, before they put her back in the water.

MESA PENSION CLUB TO AID FLOOD VICTIMS

COSTA MESA.—The Costa Mesa Townsend players, local talent group fast achieving recognition throughout Southern California for their comedy performance, this week are beginning rehearsals for a two-hour entertainment to be given March 18, the entire proceeds of which will be turned over to the Costa Mesa Red Cross.

The plan has the support of the chamber of commerce, Lions and Friday Afternoon clubs and other local service organizations. Tickets will be on sale at all principal places of business, and an effort will be made to "put it over" in an outstandingly successful manner.

It was first intended to stage the benefit performance in the high school auditorium, because of the greater seating capacity, but due to the building not being available for use on that date, the grammar school auditorium, seating approximately 400, was secured instead.

In the event more tickets are sold than the auditorium will accommodate, the performance will be repeated the following night, Mrs. Beulah Ferguson, in charge of the event, announced.

Mrs. Ferguson is highly capable as a director, having spent more than 50 years on the stage as the celebrated Lilyan Mason.

THE WRONG MURDERER

By HUGH CLEVELY

CHAPTER 20

"Have you 'ill got the note?" asked Mahony of the shabby man.

"Yes, I think so."

The shabby man fumbled in a breast pocket and produced a crumpled envelope.

"Here it is. I'm supposed to deliver it at ten tonight if I want that job, but I'm not taking any. I'd rather pick pockets or try my hand at a cat burglary."

Mahony considered for a moment. He looked the shabby man up and down.

"I'll give you a fiver for that note," he said.

"What . . .!" exclaimed Milson. "But . . . surely you're not thinking of trying for that job, are you?"

Mahony did not answer the question.

"Do you want that fiver?" he asked.

Milson shrugged his shoulders.

"Of course I want the fiver; I always want fivers," he remarked. "And if you don't mind taking a job like that, I suppose that's your funeral. Here you are; deliver it to Mr. Brown, 137 Jamaica road, Pennyfields, at ten tonight. And good luck to you."

Mahony handed over the fiver and received the note. He declined Milson's urgent invitation to come somewhere and have a drink and left him.

When Mahony was out of sight Milson entered the nearest telephone-box. The man he telephoned was Ambrose Lawson.

"He fell for it all right," he stated. That was all he said. Then he rang off.

Milson was not altogether right in saying that Mahony had fallen for it. At the beginning of their conversation Mahony had been ready to believe that he might have met Milson in the Shanghai Bar and forgotten meeting him.

Then there had come a little discrepancy in Milson's story—the mention of Kosoff. Mahony had never known Kosoff in Shanghai. But he had mentioned the name of Shultz as a dope trafficker at the Little's that morning. And the fact that he had been a newspaper correspondent in China might easily be known to Lawson; Billy Ross might have mentioned it.

It occurred to Mahony that Lawson had put together all he knew about Mahony's career in China to try to lure him into a trap.

Mahony intended to walk into that trap, not blind and unaware, but with his eyes open, expecting trouble and ready for it. One precaution only he took; he wrote a note to Lee-Ramsden telling him what he proposed doing, and the address he was going to.

That note would reach Lee-Ramsden by the first post in the morning, and Mahony asked Lee-Ramsden to communicate with Inspector Kennedy if he should not ring him up before 11 the same morning.

Just before 10 that night Mahony rapped at the door of 137 Jamaica road, which was a tall, dingy, tumbledown house, in a row of dingy tumbledown houses. The door was opened by a bent, shriveled old man, who looked up at Mahony out of bleary eyes. Mahony handed him the note.

"I was told to bring this here at 10 tonight," he said.

The old man took the note and looked at Mahony suspiciously.

"Wait here a minute," he said.

He closed the front door. Mahony waited. After about half a minute the front door opened again and the old man beckoned Mahony inside. His manner this time was more civil and conciliating.

"Mr. Brown says you're to come in and wait in his room," he said. "He won't keep you longer that he can help."

Mahony's hand was in his coat pocket; he was ready for anything that might happen. But though he strained his ears to hear the slightest sound near him he could hear nothing except his own footsteps and those of the old man; the house seemed surprisingly silent, almost deserted.

Cautiously, every sense on the alert, he followed the old man up a dark, tumbledown staircase to a landing. The old man opened the door of a room.

"Wait in here," said the old man. "Mr. Brown said you were to make yourself quite at 'ome, and 'elp yourself to anything you want."

He ushered Mahony into a room that, by contrast with the rest of the house, was surprisingly well appointed and comfortable. The wall-paper was clean and fresh; there were a couple of comfortable armchairs, a solid-looking roll-top desk, a good thick carpet, and on a mahogany table were whisky, soda, glasses, and a box of cigarets.

"'Ave a drink or a smoke if you feel like it," said the old man, and he went out, closing the door after him. Mahony heard his slow footsteps going down the stairs.

Very puzzled, Mahony glanced round the room. So far as he could see, he appeared to be quite safe for the moment; the window was inaccessible from the road, the door was closed, there were no apertures or ventilators in the wall through which he could be shot at. He had no doubt that he had now walked into the trap prepared for him, but what was the nature of the trap? Was it in the drink or the cigarets on the table?

Everything was very quiet except for the slow tick-tock, tick-tock of a clock on one of the walls of the room. Minutes drag by very slowly when a man's nerves are strained and alert, waiting for something to happen. Five minutes passed, ten minutes passed, and still the house remained quite quiet.

Mahony smoked; he walked up and down the room; he glanced cautiously at the articles on the desk. At last, very softly, he pulled at one of the drawers.

It opened, and inside were a number of thin paper packets. One of the packets had burst slightly at one end, and from it had spilled a little shiny, white powder. Mahony wetted one finger slightly, and tasted a tiny particle of the powder. The cold, numb sensation on the end of his tongue told him instantly what the powder was. It was cocaine.

The silence of the house was suddenly broken. From down below at the front door came a sound of banging, and then of men's rough voices in the hall. Mahony closed the drawer swiftly. he had no doubt that whatever was going to happen would happen now, and he was ready and waiting for it.

There was a sound of footsteps on the stairs leading up to the room. Mahony stood leaning back against the mantlepiece in an easy attitude, one hand in the pocket of his coat. The door of the room was flung violently open and a man stepped in.

He was a very large man, and very ugly. A shabby cap, pulled down at an angle over one eye, entirely failed to conceal his shock of untidy red hair. His brow was low; his eyes were small and deep-set, his lower jaw was underhung like that of a bulldog.

He closed the door deliberately behind him and stood in front of it scowling at Mahony, a huge, menacing figure.

"Good evening' to ye, Mr. Brown," he said with a kind of savage politeness. "I just called in for me money."

"I'm not Mr. Brown," replied Mahony.

"Are ye not so?" said the man.

He took a pace forward suddenly and brought his huge right fist down with a loud crack into the palm of his left hand.

"What in hell do I care what ye're after calling yourself tonight?" he roared ferociously. "Isn't it enough trouble ye're causing me, with the cops looking for me, without standin' there arguing the toss about what name ye'd be passin' by? Give me fifty squid and let me go—or have I got to squeeze the money out of you with me bare hands?"

It was obvious that he was in a real Irish temper; nothing would have pleased him better than a fight. The last thing Mahony wanted was a fight with a stranger at that moment.

"Don't be a damned fool," he said sharply. "I've told you I'm not Mr. Brown. I'm waiting for him myself."

The Irishman made a gesture of disgust.

"Do you think you'll wriggle out of paying me that way, ye twisting cluricaun?" he demanded angrily. "Didn't I have the tip that you'd be here at ten tonight? Wasn't you seen to come in at ten? Didn't the ould fellow below tell me you was here?"

(To Be Continued)

But Terence has to fight, Monday.

BAER FLOORS FARR THREE TIMES TO WIN

EXPERTS BAFFLED BY MAXIE BAER'S FORM

He who laughs last. . . .

Before the fight—booked as just another one of those things—many of the country's fistic experts would not concede Maxie Baer a ghost of a chance against the iron-hearted Tommy Farr.

The Livermore larruper not only decisioned the British Empire champion over the 15-round route, but he floored him THREE times, once for a six-count, and lost only FOUR rounds in their New York scrap last night.

It was one whale of a fight, judging from Clem McCarthy's clear description, and proved beyond doubt that the one-time playboy Baer is a new Baer who has taken seriously his comeback.

Baer said he would win—and he did win, impressively enough to qualify for a probable shot at the survivor of the Louis-Schmeling title bout in June.

SHED NO TEARS FOR TUSTIN CHAMPIONS!

For a school of 400 enrollment, Tustin deserves a big hand for reaching the quarter-finals of the C. I. F. prep basketball playoffs before bowing to Whittier's classy Poets by the respectable score of 35-28 at Whittier last night.

The feat is all the more outstanding when you consider that Coach Bill Cole developed a Southern California championship club last year that smothered potent entries from schools of 4000 enrollment—10 times the size of Santa Ana's little neighbor!

Shed no tears for Cole. He may have the GREATEST quintet in Tustin history next year, what with such outstanding hold-overs as Harold Lilley, crack forward; Walt Linker, who will be playing his last season, and Everett Winkler, tall center who has three more years of eligibility. Vic Linker will be out because of the 20-year age limit, and graduation will remove the clever Larry Monroy. Add to Cole's regular trio the names of Millard Foster, Joe Kiersey and Ben Osterman and you have a splendid nucleus for a championship team in '39.

Whittier Sinks Tustin In Playoff; 35-28

TILLERS' LATE RALLY FAILS IN FAST GAME

Towering Poets in C. I. F. Semi-Finals

By FRANK GUTHRIE

Repulsed in their defense of the 1937 Southern California C. I. F. basketball championship, Tustin Union High school's brilliant players were defeated last night in the quarter-final round, 35-28, but only after putting up a thrill-packed fourth-quarter stand against Whittier's crack Cardinals before 3000 fans at Whittier.

The victory qualified Whittier for the semi-final round. Chino also entered the semi-finals with a 17-15 victory over Santa Monica last night.

POETS TOO TALL

For three quarters Whittier's giants, whose smallest player was taller than Tustin's Everett Winkler, baffled Coach Ralph (Bill) Cole's brigade which had turned back Orange 10-8 and Montebello 30-19 in succession. Whittier's fast-breaking offense, which sent two and three men down under the basket, shattered Tustin's defense during the first half, when the Cardinals garnered a 21-9 lead.

At the start of the second half, Whittier's Earl Kelly opened the breach to the almost insurmountable margin of 29-15. Then Tustin's sharpshooters started blazing away at the basket and forcing Whittier's own offensive attack to missfire.

Kelly of Whittier sank a technical foul and Walt Linker missed his then Brother Vic tossed in a foul to open the fireworks. After Kelly put in a set-up shot, Winkler stole the ball away from Bailey and Ferguson and went all the way down the floor for a goal. Larry Monroy then shot in two field goals from 30 feet out, and on the next play went out of the game on four personal fouls.

CLOSE OFFICIATING

Walt Linker caged a long shot from center court and Millard Foster, Monroy's substitute, came out of a mix-up with the ball and meshed it from near the foul-circle. Vic Linker barely missed a towering shot and Walt Linker scored the 13th point in the quarter with his second long field goal.

Refereeing, which gave Coach Cole's Tillers none of the breaks, was exceptionally close.

Throughout the game Tustin's defense was caught short when Whittier had three men going down under the basket following throw-ins and interception of passes under Tustin's hoop.

RUGBY CONTEST IS POSTPONED

Rain forced postponement of last night's rugby game between Santa Ana Junior college and the all-college "fifteen" which is composed of the picked players from U. S. C., U. C. L. A. and Santa Barbara State college. The game probably will be played Tuesday night in the Municipal bowl.

'The Greatest Horse' Is Almost 21

Man o'War, 18 Years After, Still Champion to His Caretaker

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Man o' War comes of age March 29.

And the way we get it from Will Harbut, Man o' War is still the greatest horse alive.

Man o' War was foaled March 29, 1917. Technically, of course, he was 21 January 1, for every registered thoroughbred becomes a year older in the record on the first of the year, no matter if he were born Dec. 31.

"They ain't never been a hoss like Man o' War," says Will. "And, furthermore, they ain't never likely to be one."

Will is Man o' War's personal valet. He has a chest like a potato barrel, a toothpaste-ad smile and a drawl you could slice with a butter knife.

On Samuel D. Riddle's Faraway farm near here, the big negro personally looks after the grooming of his charge. He likes to recite the record of the horse that lost only once in 21 starts as a 2- and 3-year-old and since has sired well past 250 thoroughbreds.

Does Big Will love that horse!

Sitting there in the tackroom beside a purring stove, Will looks up from his polishing. It's Man o' War's saddle he's "dusting up a bit." Each stroke is a caress.

'Look At Them Legs'

Across the concrete drive, in a spotless white barn bordered in green, Man o' War munches his hay.

Big Will leads the way.

"Gentlemen," he says, "you is looking at the greatest hoss of all time.

"His teeth is perfect, his wind is perfect, his digestion is perfect—and, gentlemen, look at them legs. Ever see legs like that on a hoss Man o' War's age?"

Man o' War entered the stud in 1921, and is still in demand. His foals, through last year, averaged race earnings of $9366. They won 846 races, placed in 732 and showed in 645. The average per foal stands at the top among averages of 27 leading sires listed in available records.

"Big Red" has sired two Kentucky Derby winners—War Admiral (1937) and Clyde Van Dusen (1929).

Man o' War himself, so honored in the Bluegrass a Lexington American Legion post was named after him, never won the Kentucky Derby; did not, in fact, ever race in Kentucky.

Purses Were Smaller

He suffered his only defeat when, as a 2-year-old, he ran second in the Sanford Memorial at Saratoga.

Man o' War earned $249,465 in his two years on the track, but Big Will says if purses had been the same in "Big Red's" day as now he would have won $600,000.

"Big Red" does about seven miles of road work daily this time of year. A little jaunting, a little walking, a little galloping.

Man o' War's day starts at 4 a. m. His thick mattress of straw is changed first thing, then he breakfasts on oats, timothy and clover. Big Will grooms him at 6:30. As soon as he comes back from his workout, Big Will grooms him again. At 11 he gets his oats and hay and some bran.

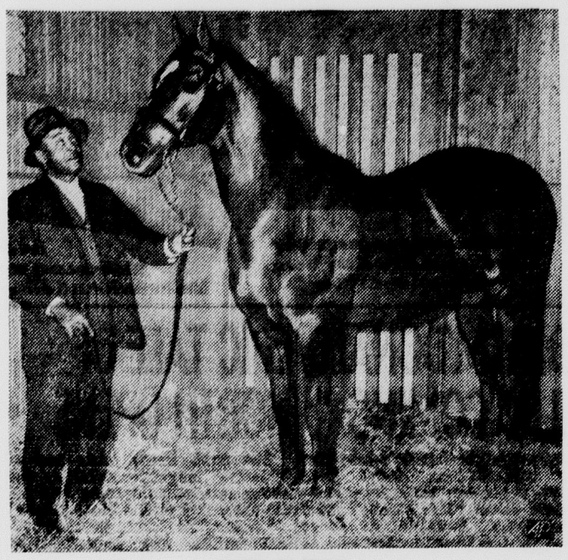

From a little after 12 until 3 Man o' War prances in the paddock, then Big Will leads him back in for—you guessed it!—a third grooming. It's time then for oats and hay again.

Six o'clock is "lights out" time. A night man watches the famous sire's every move until he is relieved at 4 a. m.

There will be a birthday party at Faraway farm March 29.

Big Will—he'll be there. And he'll be saying:

MAX MAKES BRILLIANT COMEBACK

Decision Qualifies Him for Title Shot

By DREW MIDDLETON

NEW YORK. (AP)—The clock has turned back to another day, and once more the two Maxes, Baer and Schmeling, stand in the path of a heavyweight champion. Max Baer, the "Golden Boy," has fought his way back to the heights.

It took 15 rounds of blistering action against Tommy Farr, the sturdy Welshman, to do it. In those 45 minutes the years slipped away and the arrogant, smiling Baer who walloped Schmeling and the thunderous righthand puncher who felled Carnera, battered the iron-hearted Farr around the ring.

LEFT EYE CLOSED

Baer did more than pull himself almost level with Schmeling in taking the decision. He proved to the 18,222 fans, who booed him roundly, when he entered the ring, that he had something left, enough to batter Farr to the canvas three times, a feat that Joe Louis found well nigh impossible.

He didn't come out unscathed. They breed them tough in Tonypandy and Farr got off the floor three times to lash his left to Baer's face and sink stinging hooks in the Californian's ribs. Baer's left eye was pulled up the size of a walnut, a trickle of blood ran from his mouth, his ribs were sore and red as he sat dead beat but happy on his dressing table.

"Yah," he exulted, "Louis didn't floor him, Braddock didn't really knock him off his feet. But old Papa Baer did. I've still got that right hand, fella, and it's going to take me a long ways. I've got something to fight for now. My son. You watch me.

"Gee, my timing is off. I shoulda knocked him out in the third when I had him down for—how much? Oh yeah, six. Well, a coupla more fights and I'll be ready for any of them."

Farr was a beaten man. Only tremendous courage kept him coming in to meet those thunderous rights, to stab away at Baer's eye, to pound at his body. Several times he seemed to be going at full steam. When he did Baer unleashed his body attack.

In Baer's dressing room they were talking about a fight with the winner of the Schmeling-Louis bout. There was no talk of another fight in Farr's. He had lost his third American start.

OREGON LOSES TO STANFORD

Indians Win 52-39, Carry Edge Tonight

PALO ALTO. (AP)—Stanford's Indians ruled as strong favorites to capture their third straight Pacific Coast conference basketball championship here tonight with a second victory over University of Oregon in the playoff series.

Coach John Bunn's Indians scored a 52 to 39 triumph over the Webfeet before a crowd of 8850 in San Francisco last night. Stanford was led by Forward Angelo (Hank) Luisetti, the country's highest scoring college player, who hit the hoop for 20 points.

Oregon was able to score only four free throws in the first nine minutes as Stanford ran up a 14 to 4 lead. Stanford was ahead at halftime, 24 to 22.

Luisetti, who holds both the southern division scoring record and the national four-year mar., suffered a cut over his right eye in the second half when he collided with left guard Bob Anet, and he took time out to get the gash bandaged.

Both teams complained the civic auditorium floor was too slippery.

"It'll be a different story if the floor at Stanford isn't slippery," said Coach Howard Hobson of the Webfeet.

SHARPSHOOTING SANTA ANITA

By FRANK FISKE

Why go through the formality of tabulating handicap figures today? It's the last time this meet for most of the boys, though they'll be sending a few to the post for the benefit of the flood and pari-mutuel victims Monday. The members of the last-shall-be-first club can do their stuff without fear of too close a check by the stewards and it wouldn't surprise me a bit if they took advantage of the fact.

The Phantom Ferret stowed away in a horse-car headed for San Francisco last night. He couldn't raise the scratch for a ticket but said he had a bit of walk-around money to start the Tanforan meet with. Deep Sea Danny, not so fortunate, had to get out in the slop his morning in a desperate effort to find a few winners for a get-away stake. Told me he was going to try to hock his rubber boots for the price of a mutuel ticket, hoping to start a pay-off influx on the—

First . . . HOME LOAN, MOONFACE, DENBIGH. And what's the use of commenting on them?

Second . . . PRINCE PEST is on edge and is a superior performer in sloppy going. They may pour ROYAL BLUNDER out of the pickle barrel and TORQUIL is one of the hit-or-miss specials.

Third . . . Unless they have one nominated for the hay stakes in this, the winner should be INTERPRETER with SILVER SICKLE and SILVER KIEVE trying to resilver.

Fourth . . . I'm very much afraid, brether'n and sister'n, that they'll get to the head of the stretch in this one, discover tha he winner is somewhere far behind, and have o wait a bit for it. But mebbe I'm too cynical, and in any event, it looks like A L I C E G. — TIME FLIGHT—LT. GREENOCK.

Fifth . . . Jackie Westrope has tried and tried again with CLOUD D'OR and there are indications that, for some reason or other, the Santa Anita inner circle is more inclined to accept Jackie as a rider than as a horse owner. I'm hoping for him today. If they nose him out again, it probably will be with BOSS MARTIN or EXHIBIT.

Sixth . . . Bet your money and sleep in the street, but don't blame me, for the love of Pete. FREXO might be a long shot honey and INDIAN BROOM should be in the money. Plenty of others could get a call and AMOR BRUJO might take it all.

Seventh . . . DUNLIN LADY—ROYAL REIGH—HIGH TENSION. Take it or leave it.

Eighth . . . This one is owners' choice but WILD TURKEY—VALIANT FOX—LAME DUCK figure tops.

Best Bet: Five bucks for the Red Cross flood fund.

ELEVEN ENTER $10,000 'CAP

Santa Anita Closes '38 Season Monday

LOS ANGELES. (AP) — Eleven horses were slated to trot postward today in the $10,000 San Juan Capistrano handicap, last big stake event on the program for Santa Anita's 1937-38 meeting.

With Charles S. Howard's Seabiscuit remaining in the barns, mute objector to top weight of 135 pounds handed out by the racing secretary, the field of entries included a group of "also ran" candidates in the recent $100,000 Santa Anita handicap.

Scheduled to race were Count Atlas, Warfellow, Indian Broom, Star Shadow, Sweepalot, Gosum, Woodberry, Amor Brujo, Over the Top, Aneroid and Frexo.

Nelson Howard's Gosum, which ran a surprise fourth in the big race a week ago, was conceded popularity today, but Aneroid, conqueror of Seabiscuit two weeks ago, was favored a little more. J. A. Manfuso's Aneroid, with Seabiscuit's withdrawal, was left with top weight, 123 pounds.

Santa Anita's regular season ended today, but one added day of racing will be held Monday, with proceeds going to the American Red Cross flood relief fund.

FIVE RECORDS SET BY GROVE

Five records were shattered as the Garden Grove Argonauts nosed out the Laguna Beach Artists, 43-40½, in the annual Orange league novice track meet at Garden Grove yesterday.

All records were set by Garden Grove boys. Merle Hapes showed his mettle by hanging up records in the 120-yard high hurdles and the high jump. He also tied with Green of Brea-Olinda for first in the pole vault. Art Berry ran a 2:07.2 half-mile to break John Ochoa's 2:08.7 set in '35. Everett Barber bettered Danielson's two-year record with an easy victory of 4:54.4 in the mile. Bob Ward was credited with one of the most impressive records of the meet, in the 12-pound shot. His mark was 47 ft. 9¼ in. Laguna Beach's relay team

Ed Carnett, Santa Ana Boy, Hurls for Angel Nine Today

ONTARIO, (AP)—The Los Angeles baseball team, pronounced by Manager (Truck) Hannah as "fit," meet the semi-pro Ontario merchants today in an exhibition game. The two teams play again tomorrow.

Hannah, expecting trouble from the merchants, who last year gave the Angels considerable trouble before bowing 8 to 6, announced he would start John Colmer on the mound. Ed Garnett of Santa Ana, who was with Tulsa, Okla., last year, also will work.

SAINT TRACKMEN OUTCLASS FULLERTON VARSITY, 83-21

Capturing 11 of 12 first places and placing eight men second, Santa Ana High school's classy track-and-field squad romped off with its first competitive meet of the season against Fullerton High on Poly field yesterday.

The Saints' varsity won handily, 83-21, with the Class B's turning in a 58-37 victory. Fullerton won the Class C dual meet, 52-24.

Howard Elliott broke the tape in a fast 52.9 sec. 440-yard dash. Wendell Tedrow high-jumped 6 feet and barely missed at 6:2. Eugene Hamaker set a good early season pole vault mark of 11:8. Bob Maddock bettered his interclass shot put mark with a heave of 44 feet 11 inches for the 12-pound shot.

Mrs. Blair and Blakemore in City Singles

Mrs. Marjorie Blair and Robert (Red) Blakemore will defend their women's and men's titles in the Santa Ana city singles tournament slated March 20 and 27. Entries for the event will close next Thursday, President John Cress of the Tennis club announced today.

Entries may be filed with Al Jasper at Al's Lock and Key shop; with Gordon Knight, new tournament manager; or Katherine Williams.

Knight was elected tournament director, and Cress was retained as vice-president in a vote by proxy. Walter Blair will serve as vice-president, and Al Jasper as secretary-treasurer.

NELSON OUSTS HARRY COOPER

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., (AP)—Byron Nelson of Reading, Pa., one of the best stretch runners in the professional golfing business, tucked the Hollywood's open $700 prize in his jeans today and headed toward Miami in search of more laurels.

Nelson, who came from behind to win the Augusta national tournament last fall and the recent Thomasville, Ga., open, did it again here as he fired a closing 67 for a 72-hole 275—nine strokes under par and one ahead of his nearest rivals.

Midwick, Texans In Polo Match

ALHAMBRA. (AP) — Rain or shine, the Texas Rangers and the Midwick club's veteran 26-goal team will meet tomorrow in a polo game, Eric Pedley announced today.

The game will be Southern California fans' opportunity to see the 10-goal stars, Cecil Smith and Stewart Iglehart, in action. Play will start at 2:30 p. m.

S. A. GOLFERS INVADE S. D.

Barring heavy over-night rains, Santa Ana Country club's 14-man golfing brigade will invade San Diego tomorrow in a attempt to win their first match in three starts in the Southern California golf association at 1 p. m.

With Jack Robertson of Huntington Beach, former Country club champion, unable to make the trip, Dr. Garland C. Ross, team captain, will be forced to juggle virtually his complete lineup, which will be as follows:

No. 1—W. W. (Bill) Foote, present champion, and Dick Ewert.

No. 2—Eddie Holmes, jr., and Fay Hochstrasser.

No. 3—Harold Wright and Homer Robinson.

No. 4—L. W. Bemis and L. D. Coffing.

No. 5—F. E. Farnsworth and J. K. McDonald.

No. 6—E. H. Guthier and Ben Manker.

No. 7—M. N. (Nick) Thompson and Ben Manker.

WRESTLING

SALT LAKE CITY. — Sandor Szabo, 215, Hungary, defeated Del Kunkel, 200, Salt Lake City, two of three falls.

DON SPRINTER IS INJURED

Santa Ana Junior college's track and field team was dealt its first blow yesterday afternoon when Bill Huntalas pulled a leg muscle in nosing out Rollo McLellan in a 10.4 100-yard dash at Newport Beach High school. Huntalas, however, probably will be set for Pomona next Friday afternoon.

Walter Opp raced over the 220-yard straightaway in 23.3 secs., with Gilbert Baker closing fast for second.

Capt. Blas Mercurio and Jimmy Johnson cleared 5:10 for first in the high jump.

Mercurio broad-jumped 20 feet, 1 inch. Erwin Youel pole vaulted 11 feet and Nolan Beat soared 10:9. Clocked for the first time this season, Jimmy Elliott turned a 22 min., 12.8 sec. half-mile.

Worth Elliott ran third in the 440-yard dash and Herschel Whitney and Don Hall ran one-two in a 5 min., .08 sec. mile. Gil Brookings took second in the 120-yard high hurdles. Opp threw the discus 112 feet 6½ inches.

Ice Hockey Playoff at Polar Palace

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—In a best two out of three play-off series for the Southern California ice hockey title, the Trojans of the University of Southern California and the Lions of Loyola university meet tonight at the Polar Palace. The two teams have met twice before this year, each winning a game.

FLOOD BENEFIT WRESTLING FEATURES PILUSO-CARTER

Ernie Piluso and Marshall Carter, the two junior heavyweight grapplers who held fans breathless Thursday night at the Orange County Athletic club when they wrestled to a 45-minute draw, have been rematched for a two-out-of-three-falls to a finish bout as the headline attraction on the flood relief benefit card next Thursday night, it was announced today by Promoter Bud Levin.

Carter and Piluso top a five-bout card sponsored by the Santa Ana post, American Legion for the flood sufferers of Orange county.

Legionnaires plan to stage a county-wide ticket selling campaign, and are of the opinion that more than $500 can be raised for the needy families of this section as the result of the benefit.

Promoter Levin, who originated the plan, announced the wrestlers have agreed to "work" for expenses, and will donate the balance of their purses to the fund.

"Wild Red" Berry, former light-heavyweight champion, and now a contender for the junior heavyweight championship, will meet "Tarzan Bob" Montgomery in the three-fall semi-windup. Other bouts signed by Promoter Levin will show Frankie Hill against Steve Strelich; Al Wescott vs. Abe Freeman and Tommy West vs. Larry Tillman.

There will be no increase in the price of tickets, general admission selling for 40 cents and ringside and reserve seats at 75 cents and $1.10 tax included.

PENROD ACQUIRES A TWIN IN NEW WEST COAST FEATURE

Technicolor Film of Early California Mining War Fills Out Sunday Bill of Fare

What the movies won't do if they feel like it! And the funny part of it is, it often works. But the Mauch fans will like this, even if it does take liberties with an American classic.

Now Booth Tarkington's immortal Penrod has a twin brother. "Penrod and His Twin," (Billy and Bobby Mauch) prove that nothing is impossible by appearing in the film of that name at the West Coast tomorrow, replacing "A Slight Case of Murder," which ends tonight.

The revised Tarkington best seller supports the technicolor film of old California, "Gold Is Where You Find It," with beauteous Olivia De Haviland and George Brent.

The latter film is an adaptation from Clements Ripley's hit novel of the same name, and concerns itself with an historic feud between hydraulic gold miners and wheat ranchers, with Brent as the daring young man from the east who manages to end the war.

Supporting the stars are Claude Rains, Margaret Lindsay and a large cast. It is another step ahead for technicolor, which greatly enhances the natural beauty of the picture's outdoor settings.

Both pictures rate above the C-average, for different reasons—even if there are two Penrods now.

Lady of West

Lovely Olivia De Haviland provides plenty of heart interest for George Brent in "Gold Is Where You Find It," tale of old California opening tomorrow at the Broadway.

Snow White Comes Here on March 31

The Broadway theater will show "Snow White" for two days only on March 31 and April 1.

This announcement was made today by Manager George King of the Broadway theater, who has succeeded in booking the famous production after concerted efforts to bring the film to Santa Ana.

"Snow White," which is breaking all-time attendance records for any motion picture production, is in great demand everywhere, and considerable difficulty was encountered by the theater management in getting two definite days in which to give theater-goers here an opportunity to see the picture hailed everywhere as a masterpiece.

Reserved seats will be offered for sale in the near future, and the demand is expected to exceed the seating capacity of the Broadway theater.

The story of the beautiful princess who was hated by her envious step-mother, the wicked queen, has been read by millions the world over.

Gladys Swarthout Musical Booked For Next Friday

The comeback road is full of pitfalls, as many an erstwhile star could tell you. But Prince John of the Royal Family of Barrymores finds it passable. He is making his mark again—this time in stellar supporting roles.

Following his sensational role in "True Confession," Barrymore rings the bell again in "Romance in the Dark," this time in support of John Boles and Gladys Swarthout. The film, a romantic musicomedy will screen at the Broadway beginning next Friday.

Star of "Mad About Music" Finds Time for Everything In Her Day . . . And Loves It

Deanna getting a geography lesson from Mrs. Mary West, Universal studio tutor

A dip in the pool starts the day for Deanna. Breakfast is a simple affair, after which she may romp with her dog, Tippy, or play a game of ping pong. Then a kiss for mother and dad and off to the Universal studio. Her latest picture is "Mad About Music"

Cooking will be no lost art as far as Deanna is concerned. Her mother is seeing to that

EDDY-M'DONALD FILM COMING

Jeannette MacDonald's fans like her with Nelson Eddy. They proved it recently when Miss MacDonald made "The Firefly" with Allan Jones. Beautiful as Jones voice is, the picture drooped. It wasn't box office without the blond Mr. Eddy.

So they're back together again, this time in the Belasco stage hit of 30 years ago, "Girl of the Golden West." It comes to the West Coast theater Wednesday. Music by Sigmund Romberg and Gus Kahn.

Jeannette's hubby, Gene Raymond, provides the secondary feature, playing again with Ann Sothern in "She's Got Everything." Comedy by Parkyakarkus and Victor Moore.

EPIC TALE OF NORTH OPENS

The first Santa Ana run of "Tundra," magnificent tale of the frozen Alaska wilderness, will begin tomorrow at the State theater.

"Tundra" is built about the physical thrills, the gallant fight against exhaustion, starvation and the fear of the unknown by a lone man—the physician whose little plane is wrecked while returning from a visit to a patient in an Eskimo village.

You follow him through his days and nights of wanderings. You watch him on his epic trip through mighty forests, beset by hordes of muskox, moose, caribou; you hear the wolf-cry in the shadows that tells you the pack is on the trail.

Del Cambre is the man—his support consists of animals, and of gorgeous sunsets, towering icebergs, avalanches of snow, frowning mountains, gaping canyons and burning forests. Jacob Kuil is responsible for the magnificent photographic work.

On the same bill is Anna May Wong's first picture in many years, "Daughter of Shanghai." The beautiful Chinese girl is featured in a daring story of the billion-dollar alien smuggling racket, with Charles Bickford in support. Larry Crabbe, Cecil Cunningham and J. Carrol Naish also.

Chapter 12 of "Jungle Menace," too.

FAN-FARE

By BOB GUILD

What makes a song hit?

Nobody knows, least of all a songwriter. There was "Bei Mir Bist Du Schoen," for instance. The author sold it for $30, and look at it now.

More to the point is the history of this year's Academy award winner, now relegated to the place where good songs go.

"Sweet Leilani," hit tune of Bing's "Waikiki Wedding." It's still being played in many parts of the world, although it has bowed to swing in these parts.

Harry Owens, maestro of Honolulu's Royal Hawaiian orchestra, wrote the song as a lullaby for his daughter, Leilani. He liked it well enough, but he didn't consider it a world-beater. Bing Crosby, on a trip to the islands, heard Owens play it, and insisted on having it for his next picture. Bang!

Incidentally, when Owens signed the contract for publishing rights, he instructed that royalties be left to accumulate in trust for little Leilani. That lady has now more than $16,000 waiting for her to grow up.

Deanna Durbin's third feature film, "Mad About Music," currently at the Broadway, will just about crowd somebody off that "best-ten" boxoffice list.

It's one of those films that make you glad pictures are made—full of good humor and fun. Deanna sings as well as ever, but that is merely the frosting for an entertainment cake provided by a completely heart-winning picture. Incidentally, Deanna is one of the two child-actor standouts. The other is Freddie Bartholomew. Or is this treason?

It wouldn't do for two stars to repeat the feat of copping Academy awards in the same year. So Paul Muni missed.

His two pictures of this year figured in the payoff, however.

Emile Zola was the year's best. Luise Rainer repeated her triumph of 1936 for the role of O-Lan in "The Good Earth." Muni was starred in that one.

Last year the diffident Austrian captured the statuette award for his Louis Pasteur. Always good, Muni is one actor who actually lives his parts, for months in advance. Year after year, this craftsman places near the top.

If you were disturbed by the corpses, machine guns and blood of "The Last Gangster," when it showed here recently, try Edward G. Robinson's latest for an anecdote and a laugh.

His "A Slight Case of Murder" ends tonight at the Broadway—a much better picture, indeed. And a different Robinson.

WALKER'S BILLS WALLY BEERY

Wallace Beery comes to town Wednesday in the sort of film that made him famous, "Bad Man of Brimstone." The lusty western will open for three days at Walker's.

Companion film will be "Crashing Hollywood," a comedy that lives up to its title.

AD MAN TALKS TO REALTORS

Labeling every newcomer a "direct mail advertiser, either for better or for worse," Richard A. Martinsen, head of the new Orange County Advertising agency, discussed county promotion at yesterday's meeting of the Santa Ana realty board in Rossmore cafe.

Martinsen said the trek to California is increasing all the time, but that Santa Ana is not getting its share. Outside exploitation of the county, he said, could be done through the County Development association.

President Ray Goodcell conducted yesterday's meeting.

S. A. Women Named For State Meet

Mrs. H. C. Drown, Santa Ana, today was named as alternate on the board of tellers for the state Parent-Teacher association convention to be held in San Francisco May 23 to 27.

Speakers for the conclave will include Dr. Walter Dexter, state superintendent of public instruction; Dr. Joseph Artman, San Francisco; Drs. H. E. Chamberlain, William Palmer Lucas, Mary Jones and Edna Baily, in symposium, "Safeguarding the Personality of the Child"; Mrs. J. K. Pettingill, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, and Dr. Everett Dean Martin.

TYPEWRITER STOLEN

A portable typewriter valued at $56 was stolen from a car belonging to Dr. Lee C. Deming, route 2, box 367, Anaheim, parked in front of the Santa Ana postoffice yesterday morning.

Cross my fingers and close my eyes, I don't mean it when I tell lies . . .

But just the same, watch out for little girls who cross their fingers and shut their eyes when they confide in you. They may mean anything. And you may meet them everywhere before long.

Because Deanna Durbin started something in her "Mad About Music," currently screening at the West Coast. Every time she feels a whopper coming on—X go the fingers, shut go the eyes.

If it hadn't been for that habit there might not have been any picture, because the whole plot complication arises from it.

There was Deanna, attending a school in Switzerland because her movie-actress mother (Gail Patrick) could not admit she has a 15-year-old child to her public. Deanna just had to invent a father to make her family complete . . . and thereby hangs a tale. Herbert Marshall is the fictitious father. Arthur Treacher and William Frawley supply the comedy.

Deanna sings four arias in this picture, three written by that ace pair of tunesmiths, Jimmy McHugh and Harold Adamson. The fourth is Gounod's "Ave Maria," in which she is accompanied by the Vienna Choir Boys.

The picture's "B" companion is "Midnight Intruder," a routine tale starring Eric Linden and Laguna's Barbara Read. Louis Hayward, J. C. Nugent and Irving Bacon complete the cast. The program ends next Wednesday.

Also newsreel and cartoon.

ALICE FAYE IN STREAMLINED VARIETY SHOW

The most beautiful legs in the movie business will twinkle for Walker theater-goers tomorrow. They'll belong to Alice Faye, living up to the title, "You're a Sweetheart."

Second spot on the program goes to the John Barrymore thriller, "Bulldog Drummond's Revenge." Brrrh!

"You're a Sweetheart" is variety brought up to date, and seen from the front and rear views. Nine song and specialty numbers are plugged, featuring Miss Faye and Hoofer George Murphy in two and Miss Faye alone in another.

One is the film title song, the other "Scrapin' the Toast." Miss Faye sings "Who Killed Maggie," with gestures and support from Murphy, Frances Hunt, Rene Riano, Ken Murray and a dance chorus.

A. A. Trimble, a dead-ringer for the late Will Rogers, sings a specialty number, "Oh, Oh, Oklahoma." Casper Reardon, the world's only swing harpist, breaks down some chords in "St. Louis Blues" and "Ain't Misbehavin'."

International intrigue, secret formulae, mystery planes and Scotland Yard mix up in a merry panorama of clues and crime in the Barrymore film. Romantic leads are taken by John Howard and Louise Campbell, with Prince John as Col. Nielson of the yard. E. E. Clive is his impeccable companion.

Also, Bosko cartoon, colored travelogue and newsreel.

SHIP BUILDING MOVE URGED

WASHINGTON. (AP)—California congressmen have planned to carry to the White House, as soon as the navy enlargement bill is passed, their fight for a Pacific coast ship building program.

Representative McGrath (D., Calif.), of the house naval affairs committee, and Representative Welch (R., Calif.), expressed optimism over prospects of a ship building boom on the west coast through the navy and merchant marine bills.

The Lompoc valley, Santa Barbara county, will have a large acreage of mustard this year if weather conditions are favorable.

Local Girl Scouts Put On Anniversary Observance

In observance of the twenty-sixth anniversary of the Girl Scout movement in the United States, local troop members during the week of March 12 to 18 are planning special displays and programs throughout the city, according to Miss Margaret Wolf, Santa Ana director.

Members of troop 3 under the direction of Miss Alberta Green and Miss Martha Tuthill are planning on an outing in the vicinity of Irvine, Saturday. The girls will take a radio set with them for the purpose of picking up two nationwide radio broadcasts sponsored by the national council during the afternoon.

At Jefferson school, members of troop 6 are planning on staging an assembly to be presented before children of the entire school. Troop 1 will have a special display at Julia Lathrop Junior High school during the week. This is being arranged by Peggy Ames.

At Rankin's store, Santa Ana council members are to act as hostesses during the week. Irene Noble and Bethel Haven are to be in charge of this activity.

Twenty girls will receive membership into the Scout organization at exercises in Spurgeon school next Monday under the supervision of troop 7. Mrs. Robert McKee is captain of this group. The same troop will stage an assembly, Thursday, at McKinley school.

Our Tiny Feathered Friend

Alice Faye, wings and all, looks like she came to rest somewhat unexpectedly in this scene from "You're A Sweetheart," opening today at Walker's theater.

SURTAX REVOLT HALTED AGAIN

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The house has killed an attempt to put back in the tax revision bill an administration proposal for a special surtax on family owned and closely-held corporations.

Speaker Bankhead announced that the roll call vote was 233 to 153.

The action paved the way for a vote on final passage of the Hefty revenue measure.

Republicans and rebelling Democrats refused for a second and final time to include the "I-B" surtax on closely held companies in the bill.

Ho, Hum! Painting Seaweed Newest Beach Invention

HERMOSA BEACH. (AP)—You've heard about gilding the lily. But about silvering the seaweed?

Townsend has developed a process for curing and metalizing ocean kelp. Even the finest strands, when the process is completed, are indestructible yet soft as tissue.

"Just the thing for a mermaid's costume," Townsend added.

Guffey Will Back C. I. O. Favorite

WASHINGTON. (AP) — Senator Joseph F. Guffey (D., Pa.) has declared his support for Thomas Kennedy as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of Pennsylvania.

Kennedy is backed by John L. Lewis, CIO chieftain, and is now the lieutenant governor by the state and secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers.

Fun In the North Land

GUENTHER FREE ON PROBATION

George Guenther, 45-year-old former Santa Ana insurance agent, was free today on probation from misdemeanor hit-run charges.

Superior Judge H. G. Ames granted Guenther's application yesterday afternoon, remarking Guenther's only mistake was in refusing to admit he was driver of a car involved in an accident last November 27 at Nineteenth street and Broadway. Two youths were injured in the crash and officers said Guenther refused until the second day to admit he was driving the auto. Pronouncement of judgment was suspended for six months in granting Guenther's probation application.

Forest Loss Set At Half Million

SAN BERNARDINO. (AP)—Storm damage to improvements in the San Bernardino national forest last week was estimated by Supt. William V. Jones at "a minimum of $450,000."

Reports showed heavy destruction of roads, buildings, telephone lines and other facilities

Country Club Scene Of Bridge

Stormy weather was not experienced in the coziness of the Country club last night when the first of members' activities for March, the Friday evening bridge, in charge of Mrs. F. C. Drumm, March chairman, was held, with nine tables in play.

Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Earel and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Collver were hosts and hostesses for the evening. The club lounge was decorated with blossoms of the flowering quince and sweet peas, and dainty refreshments were served.

Prize winners among the ladies were Mrs. Herbert Miller, first, Mrs. Paul Hall, second, and Mrs. Clarence Jordan, lucky prize. Fay Hochstrasser won first prize for men, Dean Campbell, second, and J. W. Truitt, lucky prize. Guests' prizes were won by both Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Kendall.

Couples who enjoyed the evening of cards and sociability were Mr. and Mrs. Dick Emison, Dr. and Mrs. John Ball, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fernandez, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Fay Hochstrasser, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Knox, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Truitt.

Y. L. I. HAVE PLANS FOR BUSY MONTH

Capistrano Institute No. 104, Y. L. I. held its regular meeting Thursday evening at which Miss Margaret Johnson, president, was in the chair. The meeting was preceded by a pot-luck supper, and tables were decorated with fresh shamrocks and St. Patrick's day favors.

Supper committee was composed of the Misses Dorothy Gisler and Bernie Markel as co-chairmen; Lucille McKamy, Ruby Kneip, Jacqueline Montgomery, Ina Seeley, Mary Ellen Murphy.

Capistrano Institute is to play host to a district meeting when nine fellow institutes of the southern district will gather on April 24 at the Elks club at 2:30 p. m. for a meeting preceded by a mass at St. Joseph's church. A luncheon will be held at the clubhouse. Plans are being completed by Stella Engelman, district deputy, and Margaret Johnson who will preside at the district meeting.

Communion will be received in a body March 20 at St. Anne's Parish church, this to be followed by a breakfast in the Parish hall to be put on by St. Anne's altar society, Margaret Young, phone 1206, is taking reservations for this breakfast.

A skating party with Anaheim institute will be held the night of March 21 in Long Beach at the Hippodrome, for which Lillian Glaab is chairman of arrangements.

"Unknown Friends" were chosen at the meeting by drawing names, and the Mrs. Welch was awarded a white elephant prize at the close of the meeting. Identities of these will not be revealed till next Christmas.

CLUB FETES ONE OF ITS MEMBERS

Mrs. Arthur Woodworth of Garden Grove was hostess to the Octagon club yesterday, conspiring with her guests to fete Mrs. Charles Hunt of Anaheim with pretty gifts. Crystal bowls of camelias and tallies with significant little pastel storks served as table decorations for a refreshment course.

Jars of iris and peach blossoms were elsewhere in the room where prizes were won by Mrs. Leavitt Ford and Mrs. A. C. Robbins. Others present, with the honoree, were Mrs. Jack Sullivan, Mrs. Frank Arnim, Mrs. Gene Thomas, and Mrs. Claudine Irvine.

CLUB PRESIDENT MOVES AWAY

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. McMahon of South Main street who have resided in this city for the past six years, left yesterday for Long Beach where Mr. McMahon has been transferred by the Edison company.

Mrs. McMahon, president of the Santa Ana Woman's club, will continue her duties until the end of the year, commuting from her new home, 211 Covina street in Belmont shore.

HUSBANDS' NIGHT PLANNED

Specially for husbands' night at the Santa Ana Woman's club, R. G. Miller of Huntington Beach, "fly casting champion," will address an audience at Veteran's hall, March 15 at 8 p. m.

The audience will be composed of Woman's club members, their husbands, friends and families, and no admission charge will be made. Refreshments will be served.

HERMOSA MATRONS

Hermosa Past Matrons' association will meet for a noon luncheon Thursday, March 17, at the Masonic temple. Hostesses will be Mrs. H. T. Trueblood, Dr. Ada Henery, Miss Henrietta Bohling and Mrs. Irene Mitchell.

LOVELY BRIDE

Noted Dancer Will Appear Here

The internationally acclaimed dancer, Myra Kinch, who appears here with her Federal theater modern dance group on Monday, March 21, at the Santa Ana High school auditorium, has a background as varied and colorful as her dance creations.

She has danced as an entertainer with Ted Lewis' band at the Cocoanut Grove in Los Angeles, and as a concert artist at the Mex Reinhardt theater in Berlin.

Another time she put on for two weeks a one-woman dance show to American audiences in a small theater on Los Angeles' quaint Olivera street. Shortly after she was featured in an American revenue in Mexico City's huge National theater. This time, though, it was the audience which was quaintly Mexican, particularly the Mexican Indian gallery gods who liked best her "Salome" dance suggested by Oscar Wilde's celebrated play.

A real trouper, Miss Kinch has appeared in vaudeville units with such popular personalities as Gus Edwards, Rube Wolf, Eddie Peabody. The success of the Pasadena Playhouse productions of Eugene O'Neill's "Marco Millions" with Robert Young and "Othello" was due no little to her dancing and choreography.

In the revue "Temptations of 1931" staged by LeRoy Prinz, Miss Kinch was featured. Many remember her dancing in "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer," starring Gary Cooper.

In addition young Miss Kinch has found time to graduate from the University of California at Los Angeles and build the Federal theater modern dance group which has won such wide praise.

DE GLADE DAMER MEETS TO SEW

De Glade Damer met recently at the home of Mrs. O. J. Hawley, 514 South Broadway, for a pleasant afternoon of sewing and refreshments. Mrs. Hawley's home with bouquets of lovely sweet peas, seemed indeed a pleasant refuge from the rainy weather outside.

The Misses Ruth Hawley, daughter of the hostess, and Verna Marie Osborne presented a skit entitled "Conceited Mothers" and later in the afternoon played a duet on the piano for the enjoyment of the group of 13 women present.

COMUS MEETS NEXT THURSDAY

Comus club will hold its monthly dancing party Thursday, St. Patrick's Day, at the American Legion hall in Orange.

Hosts and hostesses will be Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bascom, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Segerstrom, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Chaney and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swanner. Dancing will start at 9:30 p. m.

Garden Study Names Mrs. Harwood

Election of Mrs. Frank Harwood to the presidency of Garden Study club occurred yesterday when that active group met at her attractive new home at 2340 Oakmont street. She will succeed Mrs. C. W. Harrison in the office.

Other officers named include Mrs. Mason Yould to take over the vice presidency from Mrs. Ray Steadman, Mrs. E. T. Haydon to take over Mrs. H. M. Baldridge's duties as secretary-treasurer, and Miss Edith Stanley to succeed Mrs. W. R. Heath as press correspondent.

A delicious luncheon was served to launch the afternoon, with the modern white interior of the Harwood living room a charming background for various arrangements of colorful spring flowers. Particularly lovely were the clusters of white stock and white snapdragons from Mrs. Harwood's own garden, which centered the small tables.

Co-hostesses with Mrs. Harwood were Mrs. E. J. Gruettner, Mrs. E. T. Haydon, and Mrs. Ray Steadman.

The afternoon's program included two stimulating talks by members. Mrs. E. M. Redmond handled "This Month in the Garden" in capable fashion, and Mrs. Edward Walker gave an interesting paper on border planting for all seasons' bloom.

Present were the Mesdames Guy A. Belcher, R. L. Bisbee, H. M. Baldridge, C. W. Davies, B. W. Ellis, M. E. Geeting, E. J. Gruettner, C. W. Harrison, E. T. Haydon, W. R. Heath, E. C. Hunter, Harry MacCormick, Lena McMillen, Guy J. Miller, K. E. Morrison, William Paxton, James Pospesil, E. M. Redmond, R. B. Steadman, Carl G. Strock, L. E. Tarbox, T. E. Tournat, J. H. Turner, C. H. Vorce, Clyde Walker, Edward Walker, Jack Willey, Mason Yould, Frank Harwood, and Miss Edith Stanley.

MARY BLAIR CLASS INSTALLS OFFICERS

Forced to elect a new president because of an unfortunate accident occurring to Mrs. J. W. Eyerly, named to that office last month, members of Mary Blair class of the First Presbyterian church, prevailed upon Mrs. C. A. Archer, outgoing executive, to remain as president until a special election can be held.

Installation ceremonies were principal business yesterday, with Mrs. A. W. Metzgar assuming the vice presidency, Mrs. W. P. Woodmas the secretaryship, Miss Louise Friendly, the assistant secretaryship, and Mrs. L. J. Pletke, the treasurership.

An enjoyable program followed, with several pleasing solos by Wilbur Marsters, accompanied by by Elsa May Hoxie, and an amusing skit by a quartet of jaysee students, Miss Peggy Paxton, Miss Esther Belle Christian, Edward Alberts and Joe Allen.

FASHION SHOW TICKETS SOLD OUT

Completely sold out, unless some reservations are cancelled at the last minute, Junior Ebell's annual spring fashion-bridge party next Saturday promises to be an outstanding society event.

Because of the great demand for tickets, Mrs. Harold Dale and her committee today announced that by special arrangement, the auditorium adjoining the Ebell club Peacock room will be opened at 3 p. m., and that at that time, the fashion show will be put on, with models parading through the hall, and out by way of the auditorium. Special admission price of half the sum of the dessert luncheon will be charged to those desiring to take advantage of the offer to witness the style show.

JUNIOR EBELL BOOK GROUP TO MEET

Junior Ebell book review sections will convene this coming Tuesday evening, with the first group meeting at the home of Mrs. Edmund West at 7:30 p. m. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. Glenn Mathis, Mrs. Herbert Stroschein, Mrs. Raymond Terry, and Mrs. Merritt White will present the review.

Miss Muriel Matzen will entertian Second Book review section at the same hour and Mrs. Maurice Enderle will present for reviewing Maxwell Anderson's play, "Star Wagon."

CHURCH GROUP INSTALLS

Installation ceremonies at a meeting of the First Presbyterian church women's missionary society this week resulted in Mrs. M. B. Youel being returned to the presidency. Also installed were Mrs. H. G. Wilson as first vice-president, Mrs. Agnes Anderson as recording secretary, and Mrs. C. B. Buxton, treasurer.

Mrs. C. F. Carpenter, program chairman, presented Mrs. Louis S. Davis who gave an interesting review of Japanese missions. Mrs. Youel conducted the scripture period, and Mrs. A. V. Grey gave a missionary report.

Miller Home Setting Of Session

Mrs. Herbert Miller was joined in hostessing members of Ebell's Modern Literature section yesterday afternoon by Mrs. George Dunton, Mrs. Paul Ragan, and Mrs. Hugh J. Lowe. The attractive Miller home on Heliotrope Drive was decorated with colorful bowls of spring flowers, with an all-white color scheme used at the tea table where late refreshments were served. Mrs. L. D. Coffing and Mrs. Dexter Ball graciously presided behind the tea urns.

The afternoon's program consisted of a review of three current novels by Miss Ethel Walker, city librarian, who gave interesting analyses of "The Prodigal Parent" (Lewis), "Winter In April" (Nathan), and "The Third Hour," (Household).

Mrs. Stanley Reinhaus asked the group to be her guests at next month's meeting, at which time two members, Mrs. E. T. McFadden and Mrs. Hiram Curry, will present reviews.

Present yesterday as guests were Mrs. E. D. Vincent, Mrs. A. Bradley and Mrs. William Stauffer. Members present were the Mesdames Dexter Ball, John Backus, Wilbur Barr, L. D. Coffing, Hiram Currey, E. C. Diehl, Joe Daniger, George Dunton, Clarence Gustlin, Hugh J. Lowe, E. T. McFadden, Herbert Miller, Harold Nelson, Paul Ragan, Stanley Reinhaus, Harold Segerstrom, Kenneth Sutherland, Milo Tedstrom, Hubert Nall, Ray Adkinson and Earl Abbey.

R. N. A. PLANS FUTURE EVENTS

Plans for a pot-luck dinner to be held March 23 by the Golden State Royal Neighbors association at the Knights of Columbus hall, were made at the business meeting of the group Thursday night. Members and friends will be welcomed at this affair.

An announcement made by Mrs. Hart Pennington, 510 East Myrtle, for the Booster club, revealed that that group will hold a covered dish luncheon March 18 at noon at her home.

Golden State luncheon club will meet April 1 at the home of Mrs. Flora Dolbee, 706 South Van Ness street.

Hostesses at Thursday night's meeting were the Mesdames Viola Adams, Lena Chapman and Miss Pauline Chapman. Refreshments were served, using the St. Patrick motif, and floral decorations. Mrs. John Baker received the special prize for the evening.

MRS. McMURRAY COMPLIMENTS VISITOR

Complimenting Mrs. E. D. Vincent, who is the house guest of her daughter, Mrs. Wilbur Barr, Mrs. Milton McMurray was hostess at an informal luncheon party Thursday.

The McMurray home at 2029 North Flower street was attractively decorated with bowls of spring flowers, and after luncheon the group drove down town to participate in the city's spring festivities of Hostess day.

Guests of Mrs. McMurray were Mrs. Vincent, Mrs. Barr, Mrs. Horace Stevens, Mrs. R. O. Winckler, Mrs. Edward Hall, Mrs. Braden Finch and Mrs. Fred Forgy.

BENEFIT DANCE TONIGHT

A benefit Red Cross dance will be given tonight by Pythian Sisters drill team at the Knights of Pythias hall starting at 8:30 p. m. with the Sargent orchestra playing for dancing. Half of the proceeds of the dance will go for flood relief work being done by the Red Cross.

Cards will also be played during the evening with the committee in charge composed of the Mesdames Beulah Hamilton, Mae Darrell, Ida McCala and Muriel Dawson, while Mrs. Bertha Trickey will have charge of refreshments.

COEDS GATHER FOR POTLUCK

Pledges and the many antics which they must perform provided amusing tales related by college service club members.

Those who attended the popular early gathering included Miss Peggy Paxton, Miss Barbara Speed, Miss Marjorie Lee Brown, Miss Delpha Wollert, Miss Maxine Wells, Miss LaVonne Frandson, Miss Phyllis Kogler, Miss Audrey Sattler, Miss Gloria Kirchner, Miss Catherine Eklund, Miss Jane Austin, Miss Marcella Stein, Miss Elaine McReynolds, Miss Louella Pierce, guest, Miss Betty Timmons, and hostess, Miss Sheppard.

MEETING POSTPONED

Meeting of Safeway women of Orange county which was to have been held at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Kilburn on South Main street, was postponed because of a death in Mrs. Kilburn's family. No new date for the meeting has been announced as yet.

Planning A. A. U. W. Loan Fund Party

CHAT AWHILE -:- -:- with BETTY

Are people still talking about the weather? If so, let's put an end to it as effectively as did feather-plumey Edith Cloyes this week. When someone made the traditional remark about how March came in, she astonished its declarer by saying—"well, dear, rather like a SEA-lion, don't you think?" Incidentally, when holding down the fort at Rankin's she was very much in the dusty pink of condition, from toes to veiled chapeau.

Speaking of Rankins', its bright young man, George Spielman, is isolated from home, wife and kiddies for several weeks to come. Little George has scarlet fever, and with daddy George never having had it, he doesn't dare go near the quarantined family.

Poor Ora and Walter Hill—! Barely settled in their love of a new home on Seventeenth street, when flood waters poured in, innundating all the new carpets, furniture and what have you. And if it had been built just six inches higher, they figure, the flood could have been prevented.

A birdie rumors that Vicki and Phil McVicker, golfers par excellence, are moving from that moderne apartment of theirs on French street to a Tustin nest.

Happy birthday yesterday to Joel Ogle and Jimmie Utt. The coincidence of double birthday anniversaries of two such good friends wouldn't be so great, if it weren't for the fact that Joel's son and Jimmie's dad, Dennie Ogle and "Ed" Utt, likewise have the same natal day. Isn't that just too Utt-erly utter?

Beth Emison has climaxed her college career of two years by "enjoying poor health" at the somewhat dampish University of Oregon to such an extent that she has to come back to the sunny South to recuperate. And then it seems she plans to go to art school in Los Angeles, and eventually go abroad to study. Her bewildered parents have been in the dark as to her whereabouts for some 10 days—last word was that Beth was going to stop at Stanford for a house party en route south. Or else she may be home by the time this goes to print.

Adding to the Gibson-girl Mrs. Emison's worries on hostess-day was the double pneumonia of her new pup—which necessitated hourly doses.

Tripping into The Journal office was a quick succession of familiar voices, familiar faces and familiar names—all somehow blending perfectly naturally together.

Dainty Mrs. Ray Chandler had a smart idea—what looked to be a twisted pigskin belt and matching leather flower on a black frock—very different and effective. Journal hostess, Mrs. A. G. Flagg, was picturesque in black with adorable black and white gloves. And sweet little Mrs. George Smith was in, looking all smiling and lacy. Crisp Mrs. Frank Sawyer, friendly Mrs. John Stephens, the Mark Lacys (did I hear she was to be on jury duty?), and dozens and dozens more—Mrs. B. J. MacMullen with a charming Canadian visitor—a Mrs. Ramsay—two well-dressed and well-versed-in-printing matrons, Mrs. Clare Johnson and Mrs. Gilbert Campbell, carrying posies in their hands.

Saw Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh in a fetching black veil, full and over the face, then tied around the throat—sort of on the idea of the old motoring type. And Frances Nall and Florence Robinson were swinging merrily along the street, the picture of spring, with the latter sporting a saucy black straw sailor, tied under the chin with brilliant green cords! (Said she knew what it felt like to be hanged!)

Mrs. Sara Haddon was pounding the pavements at the Grand Central in fine style, and the lush Mrs. Hans Wahlberg was simply walking herself to death at the bookstore.

Tried to see a certain insurance man's petite wife who had been assigned to another insurance man's office, and couldn't understand for a minute why they'd hurriedly switched the assignment! Guess who!

Mrs. Howard Timmons and Mrs. H. T. Dunning arrived finally at an equitable trade, I'm told—the former sending her spouse to the Rossmore for lunch, providing the latter would usher her up to Brown and Wagner's new little resting spot on an inspection tour.

English Ann Wade rode into town in the wake of the flood, after having been marooned in the desert for four days. She's been in Canada visiting her family since after Christmas, having gone there with her handsome husband, Dr. Arthur, who returned some time ago.

And according to a letter received by Thelma Stauffer, Charlotte Elliott will return to her empty Cape Cod cottage on North Ross street next Tuesday, after spending the last three months with her brother, Richard La Piere, at Palo Alto.

Others on this week's sick list Mrs. E. D. White, sr., and Mrs. E. D. White, jr.—both in the former's home, to share each other's misery.

Amusing sight of the week: no less than SIX plump little pekingese in the patio of the Irvine home at last week's tea. Two golden tans and four black-and-tans, by actual count. Whether they belonged to the house or the guests was not explained.

* * *

And at the same affair quite the center of attraction was the radio, over which leaned excited matrons, young and old, to hear the results of the derby! Like an understudy, stealing the show.

Test for the week: do you spell it obligato, obligatto or obbligato? You'll undoubtedly be surprised.

* * *

Two ex-Santa Ana Delta Gammas, Charlene Lowell and Barbara Horton, are revisiting the scene of their college days in Arizona this week. The former, now Mrs. Britton Bowker, drove over with Barbara and her husband, the Hansel Coulsens.

In speaking of birthdays, I should have mentioned one James Sims. When called by The Journal birthday editor to check on a birthday anniversary for a James Sims he answered the phone, and said "No—James is at school, and it isn't his birthday!! Whereupon his wife burst into laughter. "Your name is James—and today is YOUR birthday, my pet"—at which he retired.

* * *

Santa Ana's Dana Lambs are being heralded now by Harper Brothers publishers as their "find of the year." They're building hundreds of models of the famous Lamb canoe for window displays with the adventure book that will come out in May.

Speaking of Delta Gammas, ash-blonde Alice Harrison had herself a big surprise this Tuesday. She was sure her husband had forgotten the significance of the day, but he came through with a surprise dinner party in her honor, with all the trimmings, including candles on the cake and fancy presents.

* * *

Affiliation of the week: Edward Hall is going to be a Toastmaster—so now the Hall-Gloria and Bill White Tuesday night foursome is changing over to Fridays.

* * *

Laurel of the week: to Florence (Mrs. Wendell) Finley, who is spending hours daily hammering pewter for prizes at the A. A. U. W. benefit bridge two weeks from today.

Full days ahead and astern, dear public—so watch these fulsome columns every night. Particularly next Thursday.

And in the meantime, don't forget Tuesday and Friday at 11:30 o'clock on KVOE—there's gossip on the air!

--BETTY GUILD.

Hostess - Duo Has Pretty Luncheon

Opening her lovely home at 2226 Victoria drive for the first of a series of spring luncheon parties, Mrs. William E. Otis was joined in hostess duties yesterday afternoon by her daughter, Mrs. Alan A. Revill.

Guests were seated at one large table for the luncheon hour, with an effective arrangement of Japanese iris lending color. Jars of purple and white stock elsewhere, and one lovely basket of mixed blossoms sent by Mrs. A. W. Rutan, completed the springlike effect.

At the conclusion of the afternoon table awards went to Mrs. R. G. Tuthill, Mrs. E. E. Keech, and Mrs. Rutan.

Guests of the charming hostess-duo were Mrs. A. J. Cruickshank, Mrs. M. B. Wellington, Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh, Mrs. Charles Druitt, Mrs. Terry Stephenson, Mrs. Sam W. Nau, Mrs. Lewis Moulton, Mrs. J. E. Gowen, Mrs. A. M. Gardner, Mrs. R. G. Tuthill, Mrs. E. E. Keech, and Mrs. A. W. Rutan.

LOCAL AUTHORS DISCUSSED AT MEETING

Mrs. E. D. Froeschle of 2403 Santiago street hostessed the Friday Book club in her pretty home last night, filling her rooms with bowls of fragrant sweet peas, daffodils and freesias.

Mrs. A. H. Theal reviewed some of the work of active Santa Ana authors, discussing first Allan Vaughn Elston's story, "The Bishop's Passport," and Ethel Lockwood's "We Dream Forever." She next took up "Block Prints of the Southland" with verse by Eleanor H. Northcross and prints by Jean Goodwin.

Among the poets reviewed were Beulah May, Mina Shafer, Agnes Davenport Bond and Marie Ehlen, as well as Mrs. F. E. Best, who writes such charming children's verse.

During a later social hour and discussion of the program, Mrs. Froeschle served light refreshments. Present were Miss Luella Blackburn, Mrs. John Bower, Mrs. Fred Earel, Mrs. E. C. Frandson, Mrs. Clarence Bond, Mrs. R. I. Matthews, Mrs. W. A. Davidson, Mrs. H. C. Maxwell, Mrs. Theal and the hostess.

DOUBLE FOURS MEET FOR BRIDGE

"Double Four" bridge club was entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mable Prescott of Newport road, Tustin, for luncheon. Pansies, calendulas and other spring flowers decorated the home.

Mrs. Vivian Browning was substitute guest for Mrs. Stella Wilson, who was unable to be present, because of illness. Special guest of the afternoon was Mrs. Helen Swanner, who was awarded a guest prize. Mrs. Mary McReynolds won first prize at bridge.

BOWERS CURATOR TALKS ON SPAIN

A delightful talk on "Old Spain" was heard by Ebell Antique section members Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. F. E. Coulter, curator of Bowers Memorial museum, addressed the group at the clubhouse.

Mrs. Coulter is an authority on old Spanish families and collections in the Southland and brought with her a representative display of Spanish art including portraits and paintings, jewelry, dishes and silver, and costumes which were particularly admired by the section members.

MRS. BOND TO BE PRESIDENT

Mrs. Leon Lauderbach presided over an interesting meeting of Estella Daniels' missionary society of the First Presbyterian church this week, at which Mrs. Frank Jones discussed the beauty and religious significance of flowers, and Mrs. H. G. Wilson gave a book review on "Our Jewish Neighbor."

Mrs. Rufus Bond will be formally installed president of the group next month.

LATHROP P.-T. A.

Julia Lathrop P.-T. A. will not meet this coming Tuesday as was mistakenly stated in The Journal, but will meet Tuesday, March 22, in the afternoon.

TOROSA CIRCLE ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Torosa Rebekah sewing circle members held election of officers at their monthly meeting yesterday, a delayed one because of last week's flood. Nannie Meyers was chosen president, Emma Cochems, vice-president, Mildred Adams, secretary, Minnie Squires, treasurer, and Martha Van De Walker was re-named press correspondent.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Squires, and at luncheon she and her co-hostesses, Gladys McDonald and Mabel Elliott, particularly honored five March birthday celebrants, who were Bertie Launsbaugh, Mary Kuhl, Mildred Adams, Leona Talbott and Gertrude Butler.

The group planned a public card party to be held April 12 at the home of Mary Kuhl on Garfield street, with Laura Sanborn as co-hostess. Next month's regular meeting will be hostessed by Helen Hilyard on Durant street, with Clara Hilyard, Mary Watkins and Martha Van De Walker as co-hostesses.

EIGHTSOME IS HOSTESSED

Once each week for the past 13 years a little eightsome of neighbors has gathered for a bridge game. In the club are three men, who take turns in entertaining just as do their wives and the remaining two feminine members.

Last night Mrs. S. B. Patton, 1419 Martha Lane, was hostess for contract and a late dessert course. Her guests included Mr. and Mrs. G. Swaffer, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Garlock, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Goodwin and Mrs. Edna Wells.

CLUB MEETING POSTPONED

Amistad club has postponed its meeting, originally scheduled for last Thursday, to next Tuesday at which time a one o'clock luncheon will be served at the home of Mrs. C. E. Bressler on Washington street.

The eleven members of the club will gather for an afternoon of fancy work and sociability following lunch.

KVOE

Notes of interest for the local audience. These program notes are in addition to the Mutual Network Features over KVOE commented on above in Tom E. Danson's column.

Remember The Journal broadcasts: News every day at 8:30 a. m.; 12:30, 5:30, 9:00 p. m.; Chat Awhile With Betty—Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, 11:30 a. m.

Designated as favorite hymns and songs, according to a large number of requests received, "Must I Go Empty Handed," "Whispering Hope," "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go" and "Because" will be sung during "Songs at Eventide" by G. Willard Bassett, assisted by Ruth Armstrong at the console of the pipe organ, tomorrow night at 9 o'clock, KVOE.

Stories of the Vulture Gold Mine and the Wickenburg Massacre will be highlighted during the "Romance of the Highways" program which brings to the air Commander A. N. Scott and a capable cast of actors on KVOE and the Don Lee Network tomorrow morning at 10:15.

"The Musical Steelmakers," a Mutual feature whose popular favor in the east has been responsible for its extension to the Pacific Coast, offers novelty both in entertainment and personnel when heard for the second time on the KVOE-Don Lee Network tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

* * *

"Everyday Observations," by Joel Ogle, well-known Santa Ana attorney, will be heard at a new hour on KVOE Sunday afternoons beginning tomorrow at 4:30. He will discuss "A House" during his broadcast tomorrow afternoon, comparing standards of living.

* * *

"The Marines Tell It to You," which has enjoyed outstanding popularity since its recent introduction to the Pacific Coast airlanes on the KVOE-Don Lee Network, will be extended to the nationwide Mutual Network with its broadcast tomorrow between 6:00 and 6:30 p. m.

* * *

The voice of William Matchan, talented young baritone and protege of Captain Allan Hancock, will be heard on the KVOE-Mutual Network for the first time during the Hancock Ensemble concert tomorrow from 7:00 to 7:30 p. m.

Discovered seven years ago by Capt. Hancock while working as a bellboy at the Santa Maria Inn, Matchan was made a member of the Ensemble and has been since groomed for solo work.

A wide variety of symphonic music will be featured by the world famous Chicago Symphony orchestra when they present their next Popular Concert from Orchestra Hall in Chicago on KVOE and the Mutual Network tonight from 7:00 to 8:15.

Hans Lange, associate conductor of the orchestra, will direct the program and Henry Weber, concert maestro, recently returned from vacation, will be the commentator.

'Singtime's' Arden Starts Late

By TOM E. DANSON

Tom E. Danson

Although American born, Elaine Arden, the original Greek dialect air comedienne, did not learn to speak English until she was 7 years old. Her parents insisted that she master German before she learned English. When Elaine was 7 she was placed under the tutelage of a governess who taught her English, French, Italian and Spanish. Now, Elaine can be funny in broken English, limping French, stuttering German, inarticulate Italian, spasmodic Spanish and incomprehensible Greek.

Her "Grik" tutor was the father of all Greek dialecticians, Pat C. Flick, who proudly points to the steadily increasing popularity of his former pupil . . . now heading the list of dialect comediennes. Miss Arden is heard every Saturday night on Ed Lowry's "Singtime" show from KVOE at 6 o'clock.

WOMAN REPORTER "JOHNNY PRESENTS" GUEST

Nellie Kenyon, a reporter for the Chattanooga News who helped find a bank robber in 1931 is coming up from Tennessee to be a guest on the "Johnny Presents" program over the KNX Columbia network tonight from 8:30 to 9 o'clock. A sketch of Miss Kenyon's detective work which led to the arrest of the criminal will be dramatized in the "Front Page News" section of the program. Russ Morgan's orchestra; Beverly, distinctive blues singer, and Genevieve Rowe, soprano, are to supply the musical portion of the program.

JACK HALEY BECOMES "JOCK McHALEY"

Jack Haley will become Horatio "Jock" McHaley, who is generous only with his Scotch jokes—his cast claims that's his true character—for the weekly sketch on the Log Cabin Jamboree tonight. Befitting the occasion, Ted Flo-Rito announces that even his music will be in "close harmony." (KFI, 9:30 to 10 p. m.)

* * *

Reid Kilpatrick will be at Pan-Pacific auditorium again tonight for another quarter-hour session with the bike racers. (KEHE, 8 p. m.)

Going into the fifth day, the races reach the grueling stage. Kilpatrick broadcasts descriptions of the action nightly.

On the Professor Quiz program tonight from 9 to 9:30 o'clock, those who will try to outwit the professor are H. O. Davis of Yuma, Ariz.; Bernice Goldman of Pittsburgh, Pa., who has come to New York to study dramatics; David G. Wilson, who left his home in Portland, Ore., last October to join the staff of the Japanese embassy in Washington, and Joseph A. Thompson of Topeka, Kans.

Popular melodies, played sweetly to suggest the soothing quality of summer's warm and gentle reath, feature the new "Rhytnm in the Breeze" program heard tonight from 8:15 to 8:30 o'clock over KNX and stations of the Columbia Pacific network.

* * *

Alec Templeton, blind pianist and composer, whose amazing ability to caricature sounds on the piano keyboard has won him international distinction, will make a guest appearance on the National Barn Dance hour in Chicago tonight at 8 o'clock over the KFI-NBC-Red network.

TOMORROW'S WRIST-TWISTIN'

Sergeant Flagg and Corporal Quirt will blaspheme each other once again, but this time for the benefit of radio, not screen audiences, when the smart-aleck corporal, Edmund Lowe, is the guest of George Jessel on his Sunday show over KVOE-Mutual at 3 p. m. with Jessel filling the spot formerly occupied by Victor McLaglen in the famous comedy combine.

* * *

Joe Penner continues his efforts to crash Hollywood's film-studio gates during his broadcast over KNX-CBS tomorrow at 8:00 p. m. and the ambitious "Mr. Droopsnoot" (Dick Lane) enters Joe in a special "Beauty Contest for Young Men" which offers a screen test as first prize.

* * *

Two newcomers to the airways, the Mayor and Pied Piper of Hamlin Town, will be featured guests tomorrow on the Mickey Mouse Theater of the Air, heard over the KFI-NBC network at 2:30 p. m.

With the aid of the magic mirror, Mickey turns back the pages of time and takes his gang, including Minnie, Donald Duck, Clara Cluck and Goofy, right into Hamlin Town proper.

Tomorrow night brings Warren Stokes, his movie guests, 16-year-old Terry Mattson, Claude Sweeten and his orchestra, Rhythm Singer Patricia Kay on "Pick of the Pictures." (KEHE, 9:30 p. m.)

* * *

"My Prison of Loneliness" titles the dramatic presentation to be heard during the nationwide broadcast of "The Court of Human Relations" tomorrow afternoon from 1 to 1:30 by KVOE.

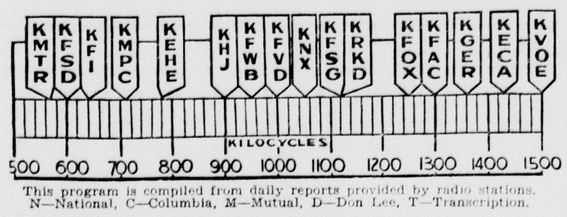

* * *

Jose Iturbi was holding forth on music in general yesterday in his New York apartment which overlooks the Hudson. He had just finished preparing his program for his solo appearance on the Ford Sunday evening hour tomorrow at 6 o'clock from KNX as his interviewers entered.

* * *

That renowned Oriental sleuth, Phil (Chowmein) Baker, will draw on all the resources at his command tomorrow in an attempt to solve "The Sunburned Actor Mystery." Details of the sleuthing will be aired over the KNX-CBS network at 4:30 p. m.

Happy Marriage Can Result When Wife Is Older Than Her Mate, It Is Affirmed

Compatibility, after all, is what everyone looks for in a mate—the peace that comes with understanding and appreciating another person and knowing their feeling towards you is the same. Although it is considered more conventional for the husband to be older than his wife, up to a certain limit, cases of older wives are not infrequent, and for the most part very successful. I number several couples among my friends who have found a few years difference in age no barrier to a happy married existence.

Dear Miss Stoddard: Recently a girl who is two years older than the boy she loves wrote ask ng if she should marry him. She asked for the opinions of readers, so I am writing because I feel that I can speak from experience.

We've been married 12 years this year. Are we happy? Yes, indeed. I am six years older than my husband and he was 19 when we were married.

His folks were against our marriage at first, but during these 12 years they have changed their minds and now love me as their own daughter.

One safe rule for a wife to follow if she is older than her husband is not to ever let him know but that he is head of the house and the superior in your whole existence.

I led my husband through the depression gently without him knowing he was being led. Three years without steady work and buying a home and once on relief wasn't exactly easy, but after that, we knew our love could stand any test.

You have everything in your favor. You wrote that the young man, although only 19, has a steady job with chances of promotion, that he has had more experience in the world than you, that he loves you very much and considers the slight difference in age trivial. Why shouldn't you marry to suit yourself instead of trying to find a man who would suit your friends?

Here's wishing you all the luck in the world. Sincerely,

MRS. W. P. H.

What happens in the fashion world is neither nonsense nor insignificant. Actually, nothing is quite as quickly moving a barometer of what is going on in the world — in every phase from morals to economics—as women's fashions. They have always reflected the times. And often the most interesting angle on a new season's costumes is the noting of significances which suddenly come forth.

This season is rich with story for those who read between the lines. The political and economic confusion which is disturbing nations over the face of the world, has shaken the sure hand of the great Couturier too. And their usual harmony of purpose and unity of showings have shot so wild that buyers, returning from French openings this Spring, shake their heads in bewilderment and wonder "just what."

The greatest anachronism was an unexpected interest in the 18th century. Or was it an anachronism? For many a history student has recently been comparing those days of concentrated wealth and dictatorship, which preceded the French Revolution, with conditions throughout this modern world today. True, we cannot drive Fords in crinoline skirts—nor play golf with curls brushed tenderly atop our heads—but the idea is there. For no small number of leading couturiers showed costumes of 18th century inspiration.

Then since war guns still rumble throughout Spain, our fashions have gone Spanish in a big way. The bolero, which is being shown and worn at every turn, is only one manifestation of this. The Spanish sashes—the gaucho belts (one inevitably thinks of all things Spanish then) the gaucho hats—the rhumba skirts—mantilla veils—flowers in the hair—veils and more veils!

But most significant of all are two other special trends. One is toward the greatest luxury and color and fragile femininity we have had yet—as if women were tired and seeking release in prettiness. Or maybe men are tired and need pretty women to cheer them up.

And there is that amazing modern development—humor. This is the one thoroughly modern, original, hopeful trend for the whole season. And it is the contribution of the American people. For we are a nation which has always laughed with the free strength of youth. Our way of thinking and living—our very magazines and language twines around that thing upon everybody's lips "sense of humor." And out of this has come a fashion trend. It expresses itself in many amusing ways—from Tillie the Toiler neck scarfs to jeweled dancing hula girls for the lapel. We cheerfully try gay nineties sailors or tie gaucho ribbons under our chin—and enjoy it. There is humor running like a deep vein throughout all Spring fashions. Think of the beach clogs with soles for inches thick!

No—fashion has its deep roots too—in much more of our lives than we sometimes realize. And it is fun, now and then, to stop and think about these things!

CHURCH PLANS DEDICATION

March 20 has been set aside as Dedication Sunday at the First Baptist church with Dr. Otto S. Russell preaching in the morning and at the 5 p. m. vesper service. A bronze memorial tablet will be unveiled and dedicated in the evening in the church auditorium, with inscribed names and gifts of those who have left bequests to the church. Relatives of donors are being especially invited to attend.

Considerable historical work and searching of records to complete the work has been done during the past year by a principal committee composed of W. A. Atkinson, chairman of central committee, with members, Mrs. O. S. Catland as secretary, Mrs. Warren Brakeman, A. M. Robinson and Mrs. L. C. Fairbanks.

Dedication Sunday committees are: for program, Mrs. L. C. Fairbanks, the Rev. Harry Owings, Miss Lulu Minter; for decorations, Mrs. Perry Grout, Mrs. J. J. Harrison, Mrs. David Meyer, Mrs. William Rohrbacker; for music, Mary Batten Steffensen; for invitations, Mrs. O. S. Catland, Mrs. Warren Brakeman, A. M. Robinson, and for publicity, Mrs. C. A. Harp and Mrs. Catland.

REV. MRS. COBB AT FOURSQUARE

The Rev. and Mrs. Ralph Cobb, returned missionaries from Africa, will be in charge of services next Friday night at the Foursquare church at Fairview and Sycamore streets, and will show pictures of natives, customs and African scenery.

The revival campaign which has been going on at the church will close Tuesday night with the farewell service conducted by Evangelist Harold Davis and his sister, Edna.

An anniversary service honoring the Rev. and Mrs. Parham who have been co-pastors of the church for the past two years will be held at the church Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

School of Religion Dean on Program

"Jonah, How the Check Fanaticism," will be the topic of Dr. Carl S. Knopf, dean of U. S. C.'s school of religion at the church night program to be held at the First Methodist Episcopal church at 317 East Sixth street, next Wednesday evening.

The dinner preceding the program will be sponsored by the Home Builders class of the church. Young people's classes and Delta Alpha will assist with the serving.

SANTA ANA CHURCHES WELCOME YOU

SERMONETTE

(ON THIS WEEK'S CHURCH SCHOOL LESSON)

By Glenn L. Thorne

The twelve had now returned from their tour, and given a full account to the Master. No doubt the work had been strenuous and He knew they needed a rest. Not being a driver Master that kept His servants going without relaxation or vacation, we read in Mark 6 where Jesus invites them to come with Him into a quiet place and rest awhile. We all need a period of rest, relaxation and meditation at times. Strong character cannot be built up when one is in the crowd too much.

But then, as now, the usual crowd was inconsiderate and we read that when Christ and His disciples arrived, so had the multitude! But whatever disappointment there may have been, He took it as His appointment and began to teach them. Soon, however, the hour grew late and the apostles were becoming uneasy about food. The only solution which they could offer was to "send them away."

Did Jesus do that? No! He said, "Give ye them to eat." And this is the work of Christianity—to meet men's needs rather than turn them away. The apostles saw no means of securing enough food. They were ignorant as to what Jesus could and would do. What a hindering thing is ignorance! To Jesus, though, all was clear and easy. He could, but He would not supply this need apart from the help of the apostles. It is the plan of God that men shall serve as helpers in this work.

START WITH WHAT WE HAVE

The first recorded picnic! Five thousand present. The disciples' two hundred pennies ($32) would not buy enough food for so many, but it would have been more than the widow had when Elijah asked her to bake him a cake. Here was a lad, five loaves and two fishes, and the all-important one—Jesus. That was enough to start with. Do we dare start to share with what we have? The meal in the widow's barrel did not run out and the bread and fish did not cease being until all were abundantly fed.

There were but five cakes and two fishes. Some small boy, perhaps on his way fishing had joined the crowd, pushed his way to the front row, as boys will. A small boy and his lunch, both wholly given over to the Master. He commands the people to sit down in an orderly manner and He then breaks it to the disciples and they pass it out and we read that "all did eat and were filled" with 12 baskets left over! A splendid investment that boy made, yes, but are we willing to give Him our all to bless and turn back to a hungry humanity? In His hands we can be used by Him if we will turn ourselves over to Him.

Just when did the special miracle take place? I do not know. But it was in the immediate method—for God's miracle of multiplying food materials to supply all of man's need is repeated each year. I have no doubt that God supplies a sufficient amount of foodstuffs for everyone each year. Why then are people hungry? In our lesson today Jesus, using men, fed the hungry. He has not changed but men have failed their part in seedtime and harvest—and distribution. As a result, people go hungry.

And what is true in the physical sense is also true in the spiritual realm. He is always ready to perform the miracle, yet man fails to do his part in passing out the bread of life and the world is hungry for soul food. Are we willing to place our all, small though it be, in His hands and let Him use us to help feed the multitudes? There is hunger all about us. Physical, yes, but also—Foreigners hungry for understanding; paupers, for self-respect, care-free, to enjoy life; sorrowing, to forget life. Have we nothing to give them? Phineas F. Bresee said, "We are debtors to every man to give . . . . in the same measure as we have received."

THE MOUNTAIN BOYS

By PAUL WEBB

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

By JOHN HIX

HE MET THE PRESIDENT . . .

Rutherford B. Hayes, 19th President of the United States, had an unusual claim to fame. Hayes was a champion handshaker.

Hayes put his ability to test in the fall of 1879 when he planned an official tour of the country. Accompanied by one or two of his cabinet members, his wife, Lucy, General Sherman and other notables, Handshaker-President Hayes boarded a special train and crossed the continent. On the return trip to Washington, the party passed through Kansas.

When the cortege pulled into Hutchinson it was greeted by the wildest enthusiasm. As per schedule, Hayes took his stand on the station platform to greet his Kansas friends. The crowd lined up to shake personally the President's hand.

At this point, according to Hutchinson's local historians, Stan Parsons, local cowboy and man-about-the-prairies, rode in off the range on one of his few visits to town.

Dismounting, Parsons fell in line with the rest of the crowd, a little confused but curious. Gradually he worked his way to the front, where stood a smiling stranger who reached out and grabbed Parsons' hand with a show of enthusiasm.

Cowboy Parsons stepped back and regarded him. He shifted his feet, scratched his head, squinted his eyes. He said, "Stranger, you've got me. Seems to me that I ought to know your face, but darned if I can remember your name."

MARKETS—CITRUS

Weekly Citrus Review

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—California oranges and lemons were stronger during the past week in eastern and middle western auction centers.

Navels oranges were 12 cents a box higher to make an auction market average for the week of $2.77. Volume on this variety was down 27 cars to a total of 299 cars.

Lemons were up 79 cents a box to an auction average for the week of $4.94 while volume dipped 28 cars to 65.

W. C. Frackelton, general manager for the California - Arizona Orange and Grapefruit marketing agency, announced next week's prorate as follows: In interstate commerce, 1150 cars of navel oranges and in intrastate commerce 250 cars of navels, all from Southern California.

Members of the grower's advisory committee, finally able to meet last Monday, set the present week's prorate at 1100 cars of navels in interstate commerce and 200 in intrastate commerce.

Pacific coast citrus markets were steady durin gthe week with demand fair, the Federal - State market news service reported today. Supplies in Portland, Los Angeles, Seattle and San Francisco for the week were lighter on oranges and steady on lemons.

The California Gruit Growers exchange, commenting on both private and auction sales markets for the week, says:

"The orange market is about back to the pre-storm level. Flood reports brought a quick advance and heavy sales last week, leaving supplies closely cleaned up but most of the fruit still in the hands of the trade for distribution this week. Normal supplies have gone out again this week though most of the shipments did not leave California until late in the week when railroad lines resumed service.

"Florida estimated shipments for the week beginning March 13 of 1800 cars of oranges and 550 cars of grapefruit.

"A little more interest and widening distribution is reported for grapefruit but prices are unchanged.

"The lemon market was higher under temporarily light supplies due to inability to ship. Supplies will be normal in most markets next week."

Orange averages per box for the week, with comparative figures for last week and for the corresponding weeks of 1937 and 1936 follows:

BROKERS SEEK CONFIDENCE

NEW YORK. (AP) — Acting swiftly after the failure and indictment of its former president, the New York stock exchange put into effect today a new rule requiring brokerage firms to make available a stateemnt of financial condition to any customer upon request.

The ruling, figuratively compelling brokerage houses to keep their asset ledgers "in their front windows" for the guidance of securitytrading customers, applied to all member firms regardless of whether they carried margin accounts.

It was adopted by the exchange governing committee as state, local and federal investigations were pressed into the tangled finances of Richard Whitney. The failure of his brokerage firm four days ago gave Wall Street its biggest scandal in years.

EUROPE MONEY GETS BIG SCARE

NEW YORK. (AP)—European capitals, tense over Germany's Austrian coup, poured a steady stream of funds into the dollar and pound today. Most activitiy was in London. Trading here was relatively quiet.

The French franc, still nervous over internal political developments, felt the added pressure of the German advance into central Europe. At 3.20 cents to the franc, the unit was off .02¾ of a cent.

A slump of 1⅛ cents in the pound sterling was partly attributed in foreign exchange circles to heavy support by the official British control fund of the French franc.

Camp Fire Girls Elect Officers

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—J. E. Carpenter of Sacramento has been unanimously re-elected chairman of the fifth district executives of the Campfire Girls. The district includes Utah, Nevada and California.

Other officers, named last night at the end of an all-day conference, were Mrs. R. V. Carr, jr., of Pasadena, vice chairman, and R. MacPherson, chairman of the board of directors.

Representatives on the new board of diretcors, appointed at the conference, are Mrs. Edward D. Gaylord, Los Angeles; E. Barens, Petaluma; Mrs. John C. Kyle, Long Beach; Mrs. Sherman Burke, San Francisco; Mrs. Roy E. Warner, Piedmont; Mrs. Edward J. Cymmes, Bakersfield, and Dr. Elliott Colby, San Diego.

L. A. Stocks

Five issues advanced, two were lower and five unchanged on a turnover of 2500 shares.

Black Mammoth, a mining stock, was the most active, with 1000 shares traded. It dropped from 15c to a new low at 2.

While Germany Expands Again

German troops are on the march again, according to European wires.

This time the difference is 1938 instead of 1914; Hitler instead of the Kaiser; and Austria instead of Belgium.

As Nazi banners move southward and Chancellor Kurt von Schuschnigg of Austria resigns, it appears that the spirited resistance of the smaller nation has broken and that the Swastika may soon crown Vienna.

Other European nations seem very much on the sidelines, at present. Britain and France object, but are happy that marching feet are not headed in their direction.

Mussolini apparently has made a deal to let Hitler grab Austria in exchange for a free hand in Spain.

Stalin is too busy with Japanese and internal troubles to be much of a menace.

If the Austrian move is really part of Hitler's asserted plan to carve his colonies out of Europe instead of overseas, the next German advance may be against Czechoslovakia.

The Czech republic has been threatened frequently by Nazis in the past, and once troops are under way they may keep right on toward the southeast.

From Czechoslovakia, the path of conquest would run down the Danube to Hungary, then to Rumania, Bulgaria and Greece, winding up at the Golden Horn—long a goal of German desires. This conquest would supply Hitler with raw materials and food supplies which he now lacks.

The last time the German hosts went forth to conquer, the United States took up the challenge in the name of democracy.

This time, we hope, the United States will stay at home and attend to its own affairs, chief among which is protection of its own shores and those of the two Americas against violation of foreign forces.

While Europe and Asia are busy with their wars and politics, it is a good idea for the United States to be busy with its own problems: Building a greater homeland with employment for all and preparing to defend the western hemisphere against armed aggression.

Another thing we don't hear about any more is President Roosevelt's "quarantine" against aggressor nations.

The Big Flood Predicted

Old Man Noah knew about the Big Deluge in advance and U. S. army engineers predicted the Southland's recent flood with just as much surety.

Not only did they predict it, but they published their predictions in a report as recently as January of this year. The report showed charts, photographs and detailed descriptions just what would happen when the next heavy rains hit this region.

Accuracy of their prophecies may be judged by the following quotation from the report:

"The future occurrence of a flood 50 per cent greater than the reported 1914 flood is probable . . . It is impractical to attempt an accurate estimate of such damage, but it is believed that $100,000,000 would be a conservative estimate, based upon 1931 values.

"Such a flood would incapacitate practically all railroad trunk lines leading into the city of Los Angeles and the greater portion of main truck highways, resulting in virtual isolation of the city and adjacent counties.

"Human life would be greatly endangered from drowning, debris causing the collapse of structures, and accidents on highways and other transportation systems, due to inundated roads and failure of bridges."

Irony of it is that this report was prepared to show just how such a flood could be avoided.

Orange and Los Angeles counties had approved the expenditure of millions to carry out the recommendations but the predicted major flood arrived before work was scarcely started.

As the cost of destruction is balanced against the army engineer's estimate of the cost of completion of the plan, we imagine there will be no dilly-dallying about putting it into effect.

If the rains keep up, we'll no longer have a shortage of water. Instead there'll be a shortage of places to put it.

Relieving Mr. Farley

It was necessary for congress to appropriate $250,000,000 more for unemployment relief.

But was it necessary—

For the congressional record, which costs the taxpayers $55 a page, to print during the last session of congress 33 addresses on political and other subjects by Postmaster General Farley?

For two pages of speeches at a Farley testimonial dinner in Washington on Feb. 15, 1937, to be printed in the congressional record on Aug. 18, 1937?

For the government printing office to reprint half a million copies of these testimonial dinner speeches, "not at public expense" but at rates lower than private printing establishments would have charged?

And is it necessary now for thousands of these copies to be mailed under congressional frank, at the expense of the taxpayers, to citizens in New York state who may soon be given the privilege of voting for Mr. Farley for governor?

FAIR Enough

Writing Fraternity Again

By Westbrook Pegler

LOS ANGELES.—All this cruel strife between opposing groups of rich writers in Hollywood dates back to a time during the bank holiday of 1933, when a group of moving picture magnates pulled a fast one on the authors. At that time the contract writers were persuaded to halve their salaries on the plea that if they refused to make this sacrifice many members of the lower classes in the movie industry would be fired.

Executives also made the noble sacrifice of half their salaries, but a little later the writers discovered that the executives' bonuses were undiminished and were, in fact, increased by the saving on their literary payroll. The executives were richer than ever.

This was a great disillusionment. The authors had taken the magnates' word without demanding access to the books, and they were not only hurt but terribly angry.

The authors formed a union, got back their accustomed scale and went on to compel other concessions in the way of screen credits, or ballyhoo, and an end to certain forms of brain-picking. It was no longer possible for someone's precocious nephew to put his name over the work of an obscure hireling toiling in a bleak and lonely cell.

RELATIONSHIP

Nepotism, it should be known, is not a White House monopoly, and there are relationships in Hollywood which make it possible for a family reunion to achieve the ends of conspiracy without affront to the Sherman law. It would be a terrible thing indeed if a group of relatives and in-laws couldn't have a family dinner or poker game without someone present from the department of justice to see that business was not discussed.

One demand which did fail, however, would have given the writers the right to complete 'artistic integrity," which is a resounding phrase meaning the opposite of "don't kid yourself." A lot of rewrite men, reporters, sports men and copy readers and one-book novelists wanted it understood that their work must not be changed at all, so that their dramas should reach their public as they had conceived them in their soul. That one was out quickly and has now been forgotten, but, considered in relation to the literary artistry of the standard housewife drama of the screen, it shows what can happen to a man's sense of proportion here.

Substantially all that the writers fought for through the screen writers' guild has now been won by the screen playwrights, the guild offshoot whose members now view the guild itself with alarm as a potential censor and communist propaganda society. Mr. Dudley Nichols, the president of the guild, admits that the screen writers have achieved the ends for which his guild continues to struggle.

COMMUNISM AGAIN

"Now, don't distort my meaning," Mr. Nichols said, and went on to say again that the playwrights had won the very points on which he is willing to fling his body. Mr. Nichols is unwilling to join the screen playwrights or make any compromise to unite the groups because, he says, the playwrights deserted the guild in the midst of a fight. The playwrights, on their part, insist that there is no need to fight for a victory already won and oppose the guild on the ground that it has too many communists or communist sympathizers and regimental tendencies.

In the meantime a bill has appeared no bigger than a man's hand which will require all distributors to furnish the exhibitors complete, unerring descriptions of all plays, under penalty of a fine of not more than $500 and one year in prison for each offense.

This is a new one, placing the unhappy producer at the mercy of the man hired to write the synopsis, who might be just cad enough, with his sense of old wrongs and a bred-in-the-bone boss hatred, to drop in a trick word falsely describing the mood or dialogue and send the boss to the chain gang or the rock pile for no real fault of his own.

HOW WOULD BOSS KNOW

How would the boss know the difference between "ingenious" and "ingenuous" or "militate" and "mitigate" or "flaunt" and flout?' and how can he keep subversive propaganda off the screen too subtle for his own perception but not for that of the D. A. R. with smart and wealthy Stalinites conspiring on his own to speed the revolution.

Once more in Hollywood the terrible whisper is heard that the party is over and that anyone with a dollar ought to save it because the European markets are shot and the exhibitors here at home have to run gambling games and give away groceries to lure the customers in.

But the rich writers seem unimpressed.

"Listen," goes the standard approach of the hot-eyed crusaders for human rights. "Out here values are different. Now I get $1750 a week, but wait till I tell you why we must have a union to protect ourselves."

Twenty-Five Years Ago

MARCH 12, 1913

George Worthington, convicted of operating an automobile without a license and sentenced to 30 days in jail, was released this morning on habeas corpus issued by the second district appellate court. The writ was applied for on grounds that Worthington was promised by the arresting officer that if he would plead guilty he would be fined only $10, and that the township court had no jurisdiction as the complaint did not charge any offense against the laws of the state.

I'll Tell You

By BOB BURNS

When I read about some of the bills that keep our Senators deadlocked for days, I can't help thinkin' that if that's all they've got to argue about, we must be in pretty good shape over here.

It kinda reminds me of the time my cousin was engaged to a girl down home. We all thought he was pretty lucky to be gettin' such a fine girl, but the night before they were married, he went over to see her and with his face pale and drawn in worry, he said, "Audry, there's somethin' that's been worryin' me to death! I think we oughta settle it right now because if it comes up in later life, it's liable to ruin our future happiness. You're gonna hate me for askin' this, but I've just got to know."

Then he looked her in the eye and said, "Audrey, do you squeeze a toothpaste tube from the top?"

Judge Stump

Dear Judge: Was there ever a hen-pecked husband who didn't secretly burn to tell his wife "where to head in?" L. T. D.

Nope. In fact, most of them are all burned out. Once there was a flame of love, but now its only a cinder in the eye of matrimony. STUMP.

A LITTLE MISTAKE

"As I was crossing the bridge the other day," said an Irishman, "I met Pat O'Brien, 'O'Brien,' says I, 'how are you?' 'Pretty well, thank you, Brady,' says he. 'Brady!' says I, 'that's not my name.' 'Faith,' says he, 'and mine's not O'Brien.'

"With that we again looked at each other, an' sure enough it was nayther of us."

WPA Spending Boosted By $100,000,000; 700,000 Grab for 500,000 Jobs

WASHINGTON.—There is a grim story behind the mounting expenditures for relief, which this month will reach a total of $170,000,000. This sum goes to a total of 2,500,000 on the federal relief rolls, which means a 500,000 increase since February.

This $170,000,000 total is almost $100,000,000 more than WPA was spending last October, and graphically illustrates what has happened in the country since business went into the autumnal nose-dive.

Every month since then, as the recession has deepened, demands for WPA aid have mounted. Here are the figures:

	WPA Expenditures	WPA Relief Rolls
November	$ 97,300,000	1,520,000
December	114,500,000	1,629,000
January	118,900,000	1,900,000
February	135,000,000	2,009,000

The big step-up to $170,000,000 in March was made possible by the recent "emergency grant" of $250,000,000. This was an emergency grant in every sense of the word. Without it, relief rolls would have been held down to around $80,000,000 a month—or about one-half what they are in March.

TWO IMPORTANT FACTORS

Two factors to be kept in mind regarding relief during the next few months are:

1. The decline in employment has leveled off, but at the same time few men already unemployed are finding new jobs. So, with savings depleted, more are being added to the relief rolls.

2. In addition to WPA relief, which is supplied by the federal government, states, cities and counties are bearing a heavy burden, namely, about 1,900,000 men at a cost of $50,000,000 monthly.

To lighten this load, WPA has absorbed 500,000 of these local jobless during the last two months. But demand for aid is so great that this 500,000 hole in the local roll now has been filled by a rush of 700,000 more jobless.

With jobs as scarce as hen's teeth, American bachelor diplomats are not letting their hearts run away with their heads when it comes to obeying Secretary Hull's ban against foreign wives.

Rep. Bob Bacon of New York, father of three daughters, showed a considerable interest in the Hull ruling during discussions of the State Department Appropriation bill.

"Why don't you permit these young men to come home occasionally so they would have a chance to meet nice American girls?" he asked Assistant Secretary of State Messersmith.

Messersmith promised to give the idea consideration.

FOWL AND POLITICS

When you see Senator Jimmy Byrnes of South Carolina going to town for the President's reorganization bill, you don't have to rub your eyes to realize that politics still is a very wondrous thing.

Time was—only so recently—when the senator from South Carolina, once considered Roosevelt's messenger boy, was dead against him on many things. Among these was the reorganization bill, in consideration of which Jimmy is committee chairman. But now, lo and behold, he has come back into the fold!

Reason for this undoubtedly will be denied by all hands concerned, but take a look at PWA allotments. Some of the folks in South Carolina claim that there is no politics in PWA, but the fact is that when Senator Byrnes was the President's friend he got a fat and juicy PWA allotment of $42,000,000 for a power project on the Santee and Cooper rivers.

He got this despite the fact that it destroyed one of the greatest game preserves in the southeast and contributed largely to the resignation of the famous cartoonist, J. N. "Ding" Darling, as head of the biological survey. At that time Roosevelt thought more of Jimmy Byrnes than he did of wild fowl and animals.

CHINESE DOPE

Although Roosevelt administration sympathies are about 100 per cent with China and against Japan in the current conflict, this is no fault of the Chinese ambassador, suave, star-gazing Dr. C. T. Wang.

When it comes to doing business with ambassadors, the state department rates Wang near the bottom of the list, puts Japanese Ambassador Saito near the top.

Some of the trouble in the Far East, it has now leaked out, resulted from either faulty or deliberately deceptive reports which Ambassador Wang sent his government giving the impression, if not the definite promise, that the United States was coming to the aid of China.

Ambassador Wang is so naive that recently he picked a representative who had a prison record to carry out a financial matter for him. The man had merely written to the embassy expressing his great friendship for China.

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag. Please limit communications to 350 words.

POOR BRIDGES

To the Editor: It seems appalling to consider the number of bridges washed or torn away by the recent flood waters. Many of them have been built but comparatively recently, too.

We motorists are taxed greatly to keep the highways in good condition and bridges are part of those highways. It makes one feel that if they give away with a flood they may not hold in dry weather.

The writer came from Southern Ohio where they could give Noah himself pointers on floods and where there is need for many more bridges than in these parts, not only for vehicular traffic but for railroads with long trains of heavily laden freight cars. Many a time have these bridges and trestles been covered with high waters, yet they hold fast, year after year. Why cannot those of California do the same? Is it that politicians in the state "economize" on the safety and durability of material, thus endangering lives and causing the appalling number of deaths in the floods last week, the loss of them?

If so, it is time we had a new deal in the state. We surely have engineers who can construct water-proof bridges that should not break away every time a flood comes. Supposing we make a change in the state administration this year and stipulate safe bridges as one of the requirements. M. L. M.

What Other Editors Say

HE ASKED FOR IT

Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering stuck out his chest yesterday and delivered a truculent address in the course of which he distributed warnings to the principal governments of Europe. In particular, he offered what is considered to be a warning to the British prime minister, Neville Chamberlain, that if Europe is to have peace from now on it will be "a German peace."

Well, Mr. Chamberlain asked for it. When he threw out Mr. Eden, he did it on the ground that the British attitude toward Germany and Italy should be softly conciliatory — that British policy should be one of "appeasement." Having come out thus for appeasement, he put himself in the position of supplicant. Having put himself in this position, he must either achieve the appeasement which he advocates or look like the Andy Gump of European diplomacy. In the circumstances, it is hardly surprising that Hitler's fat field marshal should start talking tough. The Germans may be depended on to drive a hard bargain now. Mr. Chamberlain practically asked them to.—Baltimore Evening Sun.

ON FREE SPEECH

Everytime you hear a politician denouncing the newspapers and demanding that they stop criticizing public officials, put it down in the back of your head for future recollection that there's something suspicious brewing — that there's something going on which might not look good in print.

William Allen White, the "sage of Emporia" and dean of American editors of today very properly says "Any politician or public office-holder whose actions will not stand examination in the light of day deserves to be criticized for attempting to conclean what he is doing from the public on which he depends for political support, and which pays his salary when he has a public job. This is still a democracy. The office-holders are still the public's servants, and responsible to the public."

The first step of those who would cajole, hoodwink or deceive the people into surrendering their personal liberties or to give them, the politicians, a free rein in taxing and spending is to keep them in ignorance of what is going on. This is accomplished by suppressing the news of officialdom's activities and prohibiting criticism of public officials. When the people can read but one side of the story, their economic and political enslavery is complete.

When public men, no matter how high their estate, talk about a "conspiracy" among newspapers to print false news, distort the facts and present to the people an untrue picture of conditions they are talking through their hats. Of the 13,000 newspapers in this country, 2100 are daily publications. Of this number less than 300 can be classified in the group of so-called "chain" ownership, and the largest single group under one control numbers less than 30. All of the balance are independent units, free newspapers whose editors print the news of their community and the world as, when and how they can get it and in their edtiorial columns express their own individual opinions, whether their readers all agree or no.

When the day comes that federal authority, no matter in what guise can crack down on the newspapers as governmental agents did recently on a radio broadcasting outfit (and this is no defense of Mae West, her sponsors of the broadcasting system which turned over its facilities to her) then it is high time for the American people to consider as lost forever that heritage of which we have boasted from the very beginning of our national history, unfettered opinion and speech on the part of a free and untrammeled people, for if and when that day comes, there will be none of the latter.—San Rafael Independent.

DALE CARNEGIE'S Day-By-Day Philosophy

Charles W. Eliot was president of Harvard university for 40 years. He was the head of one of the most important universities in the world from four years after the Civil war until five years before the outbreak of the World war. He once declared that eating was one of the enduring satisfactions of life. It is. And I have discovered a way almost to double the pleasure you get at the dinner table.

My suggestion won't cost you a penny. In fact, it will save you money every day.

Here it is: eat only two meals a day, Skip lunch. This will save you time and money. And what is more important, you won't have to put any chili sauce on your steak at night to give it flavor. As Shakespeare said, "Hunger is the best sauce."

FOUND IT GOOD

The late Frank A. Vanderslip, former president of the great National City Bank of New York, told me that he never ate more than two meals a day. He first passed up one meal a day to save money; when he became wealthy he continued the practice because he found it good for him.

Mary Pickford told me one afternoon at three o'clock that she hadn't eaten anything that day, and that she was not hungry. A feeling of hunger, I understand, is caused by the walls of the stomach collapsing. Experiments have shown that if a rubber balloon is put into a hungry man's stomach and then inflated, he no longer feels hungry." That's why, although they may not know it, shipwrecked sailors can get satisfaction from eating their shoe tops.

For years I have taught classes in public speaking for business men. Frequently I have had one late afternoon class from five till a quarter of eight, and another from eight till half-past ten.

TRY EATING LESS

That meant I had no time for dinner, but I discovered if I drank two glasses of milk slowly between classes, I didn't want any dinner. Even when I got home at midnight, I was not tempted to raid the ice-box Those two glasses of milk had satisfied my hunger.

If you are past thirty, why not try eating less? I have found that I feel better when I eat less. Maybe you will have the same experience.

A friend of mine has a seventeen-year-old daughter who was distressed because she could think of nothing to say at dinner parties. Her mother, wise in the ways of the world, said, "It is not necessary, my dear, for you to talk continuously; it is hardly necessary for you to sany anything. If you will merely show an intense interest in the other person's affairs, you will find it sufficient. Let your partner do most of the talking."

That is the advice of a wise mother.

IT'S ODD

But It's Science

ATLANTIC CITY. — When an oxyacetylene flame cuts steel, some of the spurts of molten fire that throw out showers of sparks, travel at a speed of 100 miles an hour.

This was discovered through motion pictures taken by H. R. Bullock of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and reported to the American Welding society here.

The 100-mile speeds were seen by the camera along the outer edges of the oxygen flame as waves and drops of fire in the form of turbulences. These turbulences are of the same forms as those seen along the edges of a stream of water from a hose. The oxygen flame is perfectly smooth when it leaves the nozzle of the oxyacetylene torch. As the oxygen cuts into the steel, particles of melted metal spray out along its edges, causing the turbulence.

A STATESMAN CONFESSES

Mr. Harlan.—I noticed when the gentleman was setting forth different threats to industry he did not include the wage-and-hours bill. Does the gentleman consider that a threat to industry by this administration.

Mr. Gifford.—It is a tremendous threat. Would not the gentleman like to tell me that I voted for that bill?

Mr. Harlan.—No. I do not want to say anything. I just asked a question.

Mr. Gifford.—Does not anybody want to ask me if I voted for that bill?

Mr. Taylor, of Tennessee.—I will ask the question.

Mr. Gifford.—Yes, I voted for it, and my answer is as follows: She congratulated the bride, but she added, "You know, Jack was engaged to me last year." "Yes," was the reply, "Jack told me there was one thing in his life of which he was very much ashamed."—Congressional Record.
